

FINANCE AND ACCOUNTING 2023 ANNUAL RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

15 – 16 JUNE 2023

UNIVERSITY OF
WESTMINSTER

WELCOME MESSAGE

Dear Participants,

On behalf of the School of Finance and Accounting, Westminster Business School, I would like to extend a very warm welcome to all of you to the Finance and Accounting (F&A) 2023 Annual Research Symposium. The theme for this year's session is 'Diversity in Finance and Accounting.'

The fields of finance and accounting play a critical and transformational role in equality, diversity, and inclusion (EDI). This symposium will provide an opportunity to explore some of these key challenges, opportunities, and resolutions of the concept of diversity in the fields of finance and accounting. Empowering people and ensuring diversity and inclusivity in all areas will ensure that the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UNSDG) are achieved. In recent times, diversity in finance and accounting has attracted attention from investors, regulators, fund managers, businesses, corporations, financial services, and accounting bodies. The symposium will examine a wide range of key finance, data analytics and accounting topics, ranging from sustainable asset pricing, corporate finance, financial econometrics, forecasting, fund management, market sentiment, sustainable development, thematic investing, financial reporting, accounting standards, taxation to big data and data analytics.

The keynote address will be delivered by very distinguished speakers who will share their views and perspectives on the theme.

Academic Keynote Speaker:

Professor Daniel Ferreira, London School of Economics (LSE), London, UK

Industry Keynote Speakers:

Jason Buwanabala, Senior Manager, PwC

Kasia Jazeel, Manager, PwC

I hope you will take some time out to attend the sessions, network and above all enjoy the meeting!

Thank you.
Kind Regards,

Sheeja Sivaprasad

Research and Knowledge Exchange Lead,
School of Finance and Accounting

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

DANIEL FERREIRA,
Professor of Finance, London School of Economics and Political Science

Daniel Ferreira is Head of Department and Professor of Finance at the London School of Economics. He is known for his academic work on corporate governance, especially on the workings of corporate boards, having written several influential articles on the topic. More generally, his research interests span areas such as corporate finance, organisations, business strategy, and microeconomics, with articles published in leading journals in finance, economics, accounting, and management. His academic work is policy-relevant and has had a significant media impact. He has a PhD degree in Economics from the University of Chicago in 2002.

JASON BUWANABALA
Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Senior Manager, PwC

Jason is a Senior Manager at PwC UK focussing on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DE&I). As a consultant, he works with organisations, industry bodies, regulators and governments to help drive positive change on fairness and equality. Jason is a qualified actuary and is passionate about being evidence based and data led when making workforce decisions. He has supported several organisations with their DE&I agenda globally and he leads a multidisciplinary team of lawyers, statisticians, communications advisors and HR system specialists.
