The University of Westminster offers a dynamic and diverse learning environment, built on a rich tradition of providing professionally relevant education, and set in the heart of one of the world’s greatest cities.

When you join the University as a student, you become a member of an inclusive community that embraces equality, diversity, and ethical behaviour. You, our students, are at the heart of this community, and working in partnership with our students – a relationship enshrined in our Student Charter – is vital to our mutual success.

Having access to a multicultural community is an essential part of your university experience. According to the Hotcourses Diversity Index 2016, which assesses the mix of student nationalities at institutions across the UK, USA, Australia and New Zealand, the University of Westminster is top of the table with 169 nationalities. We are proud of our diversity, our global outreach and our internationalism, and we aim to educate, encourage and inspire you to become the next generation of global citizens, with the knowledge, skills and understanding to shape a better future for all.

We are also committed to providing a stimulating, fulfilling and life-changing experience, one that is full of opportunities not just for career and academic advancement, but also for building friendships and professional networks, discovering and developing your passions, and preparing you fully for life after university.

We look forward to welcoming you to Westminster.

PROFESSOR GEOFFREY PETTS
BSc, PhD, FRGS, FRSA
VICE-CHANCELLOR AND PRESIDENT

The University of Westminster has a long tradition of ensuring that all our students achieve their full potential, and we are very proud of this. You, our students, are at the heart of all that we do. You will work in partnership with our staff to experience the excitement of learning new ideas and gaining the skills that will enable you to meet the challenges of the future.

We offer dynamic and continually evolving courses and programmes that are relevant and at the forefront of contemporary research. We ensure that all our courses provide you with the tools and knowledge required for future employment, and many of our courses are accredited by professional bodies.

We are committed to being an inclusive community where all students, regardless of wealth, background, identity, disability or faith, are treated equitably in a caring and inclusive manner. We value every student as an individual. All students have a personal tutor who provides individual advice about your academic studies and any other issue that might arise.

We celebrate our openness to the world with large numbers of students from Europe and beyond. We ensure that all our courses are global in outlook and encourage all students to learn the inter-cultural skills required to meet the demands of a global workplace.

The University of Westminster is an exciting and dynamic institution preparing students for the challenges of the 21st century.

We look forward to welcoming you.

Westminster is a place for pioneers, and for firsts: we were the first polytechnic in the UK, home to the first public moving picture show to a paying British audience in the UK, the first modern university to win the Queen’s Award for Enterprise, and the first UN Habitat Partner University, to name just a few.
STUDY IN LONDON, LIVE IN LONDON

CAPITAL OF CULTURE AND LEARNING

Wherever you look, London is full of life. It’s one of the world’s great cities, and as a Westminster student, the UK’s capital is your campus.

Few cities in the world can match London as a place of culture and learning. There are four UNESCO world heritage sites, more than 170 museums, and over 800 art galleries. A third of all the UK’s archives are housed here, including the National Archives which date back to the 11th century and preserve William the Conqueror’s Domesday Book. And among the city’s 300+ public libraries is the British Library, within walking distance of our central London campuses, and home to the Magna Carta.

The academic and educational opportunities are matched by the culture of the creative arts. With over 200 professional theatres, you could visit a different show every weekend of your degree course and still not exhaust the city’s theatrical venues.

Oh, and don’t forget to drop into any one of the capital’s 800 cinema screens – including our own, recently refurbished Regent Street Cinema – or catch one of the 17,000 music performances that take place across the city every year.

London’s history and heritage make it perfect for a history course, the access to archives and museums is really convenient when dissertation time comes around!”

LONDON CULTURE

STUDY IN LONDON, LIVE IN LONDON
THE WORLD’S BUSINESS CITY

London is the financial capital of the world; the Sunday Times Rich List names it as the city with the most billionaires in the world, and the capital is also top of the Global Financial Centres Index. But the city’s business strength is built on much more than finance and figures.

For centuries the city has been known as a place of pioneers and entrepreneurs, and the University of Westminster has played a key part in preparing and educating students to shape the future of the city’s professional life.

Today, London is home to leading national and multinational companies, corporations and organisations across almost every professional and business sector imaginable.

From architecture and accountancy to travel and technology, computing and construction to manufacturing and the media, the city is at the forefront of the latest business developments. Which means that as a Westminster student, whatever your professional aims and aspirations, you will have the opportunity to network with future employers, find work placements and internships, and be in the best position to build a career after graduation.

“Studying business in the centre of the financial capital of the world definitely gets you much greater exposure to businesses and the many professionals conveniently based nearby, who come in to give talks, recruit interns and so on. The central metropolitan location is a great selling point.”

Marina Nancheva
Business Management – Finance BA Honours, graduate
SOCIALISE, SHOP, OR JUST RELAX...

How ever you choose to spend your spare time, London has the answer. For a night out there’s the glitz and glamour of the West End, the alternative music and fashions of the city’s underground scene, and everything in between.

With over 6,000 restaurants and 4,500 pubs and bars it’s not hard to find somewhere to eat, drink and relax, whatever your taste or budget. London is one of the most diverse cities in the world, with more than 300 languages spoken – more than any other city – so whether you’re seeking your favourite international cuisine or eager to try something new, it’s on the menu.

If you prefer your relaxation in the shape of retail therapy, you’re also in the right place. London is a shoppers’ paradise, and within walking distance of our West End campuses are three of the biggest shopping streets in the capital – Oxford Street, Regent Street and Bond Street. But it’s just as easy to bag a bargain at one of the city’s many markets, with everything from flowers and fruit to fish and fashion on offer.

And if you want to get away from all the hustle and bustle, don’t worry – 40 per cent of London is green space, with playing fields and parkland covering over 66 square miles – that’s three times the size of Manhattan.

If you are wondering what it would be like to study in London, visit thestudentroom.co.uk/london to get first-hand information about all the opportunities London students can benefit from.

“...there are many great things about being a student in London, including the diversity of cultures – London has to be one of the most diverse cities, with many opportunities to offer. The University is situated near Oxford Street, which is busy and lively all the time; there is always something to do and something to see, from galleries to museums to shopping. There is no time to be bored in London.”

WESTMINSTER WILL PREPARE YOU PROFESSIONALLY FOR THE FUTURE

A degree is a major step in your career development, but preparing you for your professional future is about much more than exams. At Westminster you will have the chance to work with and learn from leading employers in all sectors.

Our close links with industry and professional organisations in London, across the UK and internationally mean we are able to attract the best guest speakers and lecturers, while extensive placement and internship opportunities give you the chance to gain experience working with leading businesses.

Over 40 separate professional organisations and bodies offer accreditation, approval and recognition of our courses, or membership for our students after graduation. Our Career Development Centre provides support and guidance throughout your study and after graduation.

We have a proud tradition of shaping the future of professional life, a tradition which we work hard to maintain today. Studying for a degree is a significant investment of your time and money; we are determined to make sure that your investment reaps the best possible rewards for your career, and creates a future for you that is full of prospects.

EXPERIENCES AND OPPORTUNITIES
“The skills I learned from my placement at the Walt Disney Company were invaluable. I learned proper business etiquette and improved my communication skills (verbal, written and presenting). I also had a lot of exposure to how campaigns are planned and built, and the timelines they follow. My favourite part of the placement was that I was treated as a member of the team as colleagues from different territories used me as a first point of contact. I was also given a lot of responsibility to do my own work and developed so much knowledge in the marketing world.”

HOW TO BROADEN YOUR PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL SKILLS

Studying for your undergraduate degree opens up a whole new world of learning and knowledge. But being an undergraduate at Westminster is about so much more than academic learning. It’s also about your own personal development, and the experiences you have outside of the classroom and the lecture theatre.

It’s about the individual and professional skills you can acquire through volunteering activities, mentoring initiatives, internship programmes, and opportunities abroad that are open to all students. It’s about preparing you academically, personally and professionally for the future; and just like life after graduation, your time with us will be full of opportunities.

The opportunities for Westminster undergraduates are boundless. You can teach in local schools, take up paid corporate internships, or join more than 400 other Westminster students who take part in volunteering initiatives through the University every year.

You can learn a foreign language through our Polylang Programme, which will make you more employable (see p188). The latest Destinations of Leavers from Higher Education (DLHE) survey shows that there is a higher rate of professional/managerial employment for students who have taken Polylang modules.

Importantly, the skills and achievements you acquire by taking part in these activities will be formally recognised on your Higher Education Achievement Report at the end of your studies.

Your time at Westminster will prepare you academically, personally and professionally for the future; and just like life after graduation, your time with us will be full of opportunities.

WESTMINSTER TALENT BANK

Our Talent Bank gives students the opportunity to apply for paid temporary and part-time vacancies across all campuses and various departments within the University as well as with external local employers. You can get involved in a variety of roles, from supporting fellow students to helping as a student ambassador, from being a study buddy to serving as a student representative.

EXPERIENCES AND OPPORTUNITIES

“There’s no question about it, it’s definitely challenging juggling university life and work. I have to admit that I’m a workaholic and since year one I’ve taken on many different jobs through the Westminster Talent Bank. It’s a great scheme, through it I’ve got employment working as a library assistant, residential assistant and more. Through Talent Bank I also covered a marketing assistant role in a technology start-up called ConnectID. At Westminster there are so many opportunities available: if you really want to do something, you just need to shout and you’ll have the chance.”

Henriette Stoll
Public Relations and Advertising BA Honours, third year

“The experience I gained through the University’s Talent Bank definitely set me apart from my peers. I was able to secure a position looking after a start-up’s social media accounts with more responsibilities and freedom just shortly after my first role as a PR account co-ordinator.”

BECOME PART OF AN INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY

Benvenuti, selamat datang, willkommen – and a warm Westminster welcome, in more than 150 different languages, to our students from all over the world. Wherever you come from, we can offer you a distinctly British learning experience within a truly international environment.

We have one of the largest and most diverse international student bodies of any university, and plenty of experience in giving you the help and support you need to make the most of your time with us.

Before you arrive, you will receive a full information pack with all the details you need about enrolment, healthcare advice and support services.

Once you are here, we have plenty of ways of making sure that our international students settle in and feel at home. These include our ‘meet and greet’ service for students arriving at Heathrow, our buddy scheme and our faculty induction programmes.

The International Students’ Welcome Programme gives you the chance to meet fellow new students and Westminster staff, find your way around the University and London, learn about our facilities and services, and meet current international students. Students from more than 90 countries take part in the three-day programme.

You will also be able to sign up for a wide range of additional courses to support you during your studies, including training and study skills and Academic English (p187). We also have a Pre-sessional English programme (p187) and an International Foundation course available (p186) if you require further preparation before beginning your studies at Westminster.

COMUNITY

“To me, the greatest thing about my course and this University is the feeling of fitting in. As a foreign student I was worried I would struggle studying in another country. Both my fellow students and the staff and teachers were very open and welcoming, and made me feel integrated and part of the community.”

EXPLORE INTERNATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

As well as meeting and making friends with fellow students from around the globe, you can expand your international horizons by taking part in one of our many study abroad or exchange programmes which will offer you even more opportunities to enhance your international study experience. Westminster currently has 70 exchange partnerships across 21 countries, and we plan to grow this further. Options range from short international summer school opportunities and field trips to full-year international placements.

From America to Australia, Belgium to China, and hundreds of other destinations in between, Westminster offers a truly global education.

OPPORTUNITIES

Here’s what two of the students taking part in our International Welcome Programme had to say:

“I’ve already met so many new friends, it really was helpful.”

“It has been one of the best experiences in my life to meet so many lovely people from all over the world.”
HOME TO THE FACULTY OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Set in the heart of London’s Fitzrovia and in the shadow of the iconic BT Tower, Westminster’s Cavendish Campus has the best of London within a ten-minute walk.

Stroll south and you’ll soon reach Oxford Street, Oxford Circus and the vibrancy of celebrated Soho and theatreland. Head north, and within a few minutes you can be in the wide open spaces of Regent’s Park.

The Campus is home to the Faculty of Science and Technology, with subject areas ranging from biosciences and computing to electronic engineering, nutrition and psychology.

A major £30 million refurbishment programme over recent years has enhanced our state-of-the-art facilities for the Faculty. These include life sciences laboratories with cutting-edge capabilities; more than 30 laboratories for electronics and computer science teaching, research and student learning; a 24-hour library; and an award-winning revamp of our Psychology Department’s facilities including a new £2.2 million lab.

With first-class facilities and a passionate and pioneering academic team, it’s no surprise that the Faculty is leading the way in many research fields, from the fight against diseases such as Ebola, malaria and breast cancer, to developing global positioning technology and working with the European Space Agency.

“Let’s imagine that some kind of global catastrophe, doomsday event happens. Civilisation has collapsed and the vast majority of humanity has died, but some survive. What would you need to know, not just to survive in the immediate aftermath, but to thrive in the long term? Could you navigate some kind of ‘shortcut route’ to the most important scientific discoveries and technologies and accelerate the ‘rebooting of civilisation’? As a scientist, I want to hold up a mirror to our modern society and explore all of the behind-the-scenes fundamentals of how our world works and how we progressed through history.”

Professor Lewis Dartnell
Professor of Science Communication, and author of The Knowledge: How to Rebuild our World after an Apocalypse
HOME TO WESTMINSTER SCHOOL OF MEDIA, ARTS AND DESIGN

Only 20 minutes by Tube from the West End, Harrow Campus in north-west London is home to Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design, and has undergone an extensive programme of refurbishment and modernisation in recent years. The redevelopment work has seen the creation of the Forum, a generous and fluid space for informal learning and interactive presentations and performance, as well as dedicated project spaces, a new state-of-the-art gallery, and a revamped and revitalised library. The Campus also has music and performance venue Area 51, and great gym facilities.

The vibrant and exciting campus offers one of the most varied portfolios of creative industries research and learning in Europe. Surrounded by artists, producers, journalists, designers and musicians, producing work to the highest possible standards, you will have the chance to collaborate with colleagues in group projects and team work.

The success and stature of our academic staff is matched by the ambition and achievement of our graduates. From leading fashion industry figures such as Christopher Bailey (Burberry), Katie Hillier (Marc Jacobs) and Ashley Williams, to award-winning film-makers including Asif Kapadia and Seamus McGarvey, and internationally recognised musicians, photographers, artists, journalists and broadcasters, Harrow Campus is a hotbed of creative learning and talent.

SPOTLIGHT

“Harrow Campus is host to a new generation of musicians, artists, filmmakers, fashion designers, illustrators, thinkers and entrepreneurs, who are ready to forge their own dynamic careers in the 21st century creative industries. Westminster music courses offer students the opportunity to enhance their musical talent and abilities through modern teaching methods and state-of-the-art music studios. Join us!”

Matt Gooderson
Senior Lecturer, Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design. Matt has performed in 22 countries and sold over 40,000 albums, culminating in a number one dance album. He has supported The Chemical Brothers, The Prodigy and Faithless.
HOME TO THE FACULTY OF ARCHITECTURE AND THE BUILT ENVIRONMENT, AND WESTMINSTER BUSINESS SCHOOL

Situated on Marylebone Road, opposite Baker Street Tube station, the University’s Marylebone Campus has benefited from a multimillion-pound refurbishment over the past five years, and houses more than 7,000 students from 150 nationalities across the two faculties.

The extensive refurbishment has led to the creation of new workshops, digital studios and offices, as well as a complete renovation of the Marylebone library to include new study booths and group study spaces.

With more than 2,000 students, the Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment is one of the largest providers of built environment education in the UK, and one of the few faculties to bring together all the disciplines that inform the design and development of our cities – from architecture to transport, construction to tourism, property to urban design, housing to planning.

The Faculty recently launched a futuristic digital fabrication laboratory, an innovative learning environment that will inspire and prepare students for the future challenges and developments in digital fabrication.

Westminster Business School provides high-quality education to over 5,000 students, and is among the largest UK university business schools. A Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD) Approved Centre, the School has previously been recognised for its high standards by the likes of the ACCA and the Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM), and also houses the Financial Markets Suite.

SPOTLIGHT

“My research focuses on issues of identity in learning and in professional life. Access to knowledge is becoming increasingly easy and the role of higher education is changing. It is not just a process of acquiring knowledge, it is also about nurturing the sense of self and professional growth. I have studied how we can better support students to participate in the social learning space of the design studio and help them become part of a community of practitioners.”

Julian Williams
Principal Lecturer, Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment

“I have always been fascinated by entrepreneurial thinking and in the past I worked in the consulting industry specialising in training executives in leadership, teamwork, crisis and complexity management. My interests also led me to more entrepreneurial endeavours where I co-founded a corporate governance ratings company and became a partner in a consulting company regarding knowledge transfer and synthesis. Now I hope to pass my passion onto the students.”

Dr Ioannis P. Christodoulou
Senior Lecturer, Business Strategy, Westminster Business School
HOME TO THE FACULTY OF SOCIAL SCIENCES AND HUMANITIES

The Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities is based at the University of Westminster’s Regent Campus, which includes the headquarters building at 309 Regent Street and our sites on Wells Street and Little Titchfield Street.

Situated on and around one of the most famous and vibrant streets in London, the Campus is home to our English, linguistics, languages and cultural studies courses, as well as the University’s Politics and International Relations, and History, Sociology and Criminology departments.

The Campus is perfectly placed for you to take advantage of everything the West End has to offer; from shops and socialising to business networking, arts and culture, everything is within reach, and with Oxford Circus Tube station just a few minutes walk, access to the rest of London is easy.

Alongside recently refurbished study and social spaces, an extensive library, and gym facilities open to all our students, our Regent Street site also houses the recently restored Regent Street Cinema – the birthplace of British cinema, and the Lumière brothers’ chosen venue to screen the first performance of moving images to a paying British audience in 1896.

"I believe in education as a continuous process of conversing, learning and transforming the world around us. In my academic life, I have shifted places and disciplines, but two things have always remained consistent. First, the desire to produce scholarship meaningful to groups and peoples who are often marginalised, occupied and suppressed. Second, my commitment to make scholarship accessible to students. The reason I chose Westminster is its pluralist ethos. We are one of the most diverse universities in the world and this is a constant source of learning and encouragement for me."

Dibyesh Anand
Professor of International Relations, Head of the Department of Politics and International Relations
HOME TO WESTMINSTER LAW SCHOOL

The University of Westminster’s Little Titchfield Street site is part of our Regent Campus, and is home to the Westminster Law School.

Based in the heart of London, just a short stroll from Oxford Street and Regent Street, the School, part of the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities, has an established reputation in international and comparative law, socio-legal research, and international commercial and financial law.

Little Titchfield Street is not only home to the Social Science and Humanities Library, but also has the latest in hi-tech learning spaces, a state-of-the-art, 382-seat lecture theatre that was opened in 2014. The School also has a student law clinic (pro bono), which provides students with the unique opportunity to participate in real client cases, working under the supervision of qualified staff, enabling them to gain invaluable work experience.

Our alumni include presidents of The Law Society, judges and QCs, as well as young lawyers or barristers of the year. The School has strong links with the legal profession in London as well as across the UK and internationally, and many of our graduates go on to forge successful careers with leading legal firms in corporate and commercial law as well as civil rights specialists and campaigning organisations.

SPOTLIGHT

“Westminster Law School’s staff are very passionate about law and its practical implications in the real world. They do their own research and bring it with the passion for their subject into the classroom. I think that a Law degree is a brilliant training for all sorts of occupations. What we really enjoy is working with students to develop their confidence and enabling them to support others.”

Lisa Webley
Professor of Empirical Legal Studies, Oxford University Press
Law Teacher of the Year 2016
Studying for a degree means a lot of hard work, but there’s also plenty of time to relax and enjoy yourself at university, and few places offer more ways to have fun than Westminster. The University of Westminster Students’ Union (UWSU) can help to make this significant time the best it can possibly be. Independent of the University, UWSU also represents your needs, protects your rights, and makes sure your voice gets heard.

The list of societies, sports teams and clubs you can join is almost endless. Alongside the usual sporting activities such as football, rugby, running and rowing, UWSU offers societies in everything from accounting-management and anime to musical theatre and yoga. There are already more than 100 clubs and societies, but if you can’t find one that caters for your particular passion, no problem – UWSU can help you to set up your own society.

You can also get involved in the award-winning Smoke Radio and TV, the QH newspaper, and Smoke Mag. In 2015, Smoke Radio was named student radio station of the year at the National Student Radio Awards, and Smoke TV’s student presenter took home the best on-screen male title at the 2015 National Student Television Association’s awards. Anyone can get involved regardless of past experience, and it’s a great way to gain skills, build your CV and make new friends.

“I was really nervous starting university. It was the beginning of a whole new chapter where I didn’t know anyone, but I quickly found out that the majority of students were in the same boat as me and put in the effort to get to know others. I’ve made tons of new friends with the help of the Students’ Union. They offer a range of sports clubs and societies from the Harry Potter Society to the Netball Club which help students to learn, socialise and just have fun. Attending society events has enabled me to meet incredible students from different backgrounds, people who I otherwise wouldn’t have had the chance to meet. If there’s a society that you want to set up, the Students’ Union has great staff members who will help you to do that, ensuring your student experience is the best it can be.”

As a new student at Westminster you will be able to apply for a place at one of our two halls of residence – Raffles House and Harrow Hall.

Raffles House is our first-year student Hall, five minutes’ walk from Wembley Park Tube station, and features almost 500 en suite rooms. Raffles House is on the same development as Wembley Stadium and Wembley Arena, so there is always a lot going on.

Our Wembley Park accommodation is reserved exclusively for first-year students, to help you meet other first years at the start of term and make new friends. It is only two stops on the Tube from our Marylebone Campus, and three or four from our Cavendish and Regent campuses.

For more information visit westminster.ac.uk/accommodation

““I was in University accommodation at Wembley Park, and as a first year that’s definitely a great place to be. You get to know a lot of people in the first few weeks, and there’s always something going on. We all went out together quite a lot, and the atmosphere was great. And London’s a big city, but because of the transport network it’s quick and easy to get anywhere.”

Jessica Ryan-Gilbank
History BA Honours, graduate
Harrow Hall is for students from the Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design. The on-campus accommodation complex consists of self-contained units arranged in small, purpose-built, low-rise blocks, all surrounded by shrubbery and green lawns.

If you don’t want to live in halls or you are unable to get a place, there are plenty of alternatives in either private sector halls of residence, or private house-shares.

Westminster works in partnership with several high-quality private hall providers who offer accommodation across London. There are also private house-share opportunities throughout the city, and our Student Accommodation Team can help you to meet fellow student flat-hunters and find suitable properties.

“\`I was in halls in the first year, and it was a great atmosphere, so I really enjoyed the whole university experience. There was always something going on.\"”

Located in one of the world’s main financial and business centres, Westminster Business School is internationally facing, professional and research engaged. We have been selected as one of the few postgraduate Centres of Excellence in financial markets by the Chartered Institute for Securities & Investment (CISI). Our recently updated Accounting course offers up to nine exemptions from Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) papers (the highest available on a degree-level course) and is accredited by the Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA). These give you a great platform to become a Chartered Global Management Accountant.

Teaching and learning
These courses will provide an intensive learning of the theories and applied aspects of accounting, finance and economics, together with analysis to aid management decision making. You will be based at our modern Marylebone Campus, where facilities include our purpose-built Financial Markets Suite. This utilises the Bloomberg platform to provide a state-of-the-art teaching resource, giving you first-hand exposure to technology widely adopted in leading financial institutions. We have developed strong links with some of London’s most successful and innovative businesses, giving you the chance to learn from practising professionals and establish your own contacts and networking opportunities while still a student.

Employability
You can choose to spend your third year on an industrial placement, extending your degree to four years, gaining valuable practical experience and enhancing your employability. From Goldman Sachs and BMW to the Universal Music Group and the Walt Disney Company, our students have been able to apply the skills and techniques they have learned in some of the world’s best-known businesses and corporations. Alternatively, you can opt to study abroad for a year at one of our partner institutions. The skills and knowledge you acquire will open up a range of opportunities, helping you to build your career in areas such as financial accounting, management accounting, commercial and investment banking, risk tracking, private wealth management, and financial planning.

89% of our Accounting graduates are in professional work or further studies within six months of graduating.

ACCOUNTING, FINANCE & ECONOMICS

"The course has an excellent reputation among the business community, and prepares students for a broad variety of career paths." Rob Mitson
Business Economics BSc Honours, graduate

"An in-depth understanding of economics and the unique insights it offers into how individuals, firms and organisations operate is invaluable in a complex and rapidly changing world, so too is the ability to communicate that knowledge. This course combines a thorough grounding in the discipline of economics, with a range of practical skills required in professional life and for postgraduate studies.

You will develop your ability to apply economic reasoning to real-world issues, using appropriate methods of economic analysis to inform decision making, solve business problems, and contribute to the design and implementation of economic policy. You will extend your skills in accessing and exploring data, quantitative analysis and forecasting, applying these in a global context and becoming aware of the social, environmental and ethical context in which economic decisions are made. In addition, many graduates use their analytic ability in careers in finance and accounting.

The Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment at the University of Westminster is one of the largest providers of built environment education in the country, educating more than 2,000 students at our recently refurbished Marylebone Campus in central London. The Faculty is one of the few in the UK to bring together all the disciplines which link the design and development of our cities. Ranging from planning to transport, architecture to property, tourism to construction, these subjects are all central to our urban futures. We teach these subjects under one roof, enabling us to offer courses that cross the normal architectural boundaries and specialisations, resulting in professionals equipped to tackle the challenges of the modern working environment.

Teaching and learning
All our courses are delivered using an enquiry-based learning approach involving workshops, lectures, tutorials and independent study, blended with online resources. We use our central London location to great effect, and you will benefit from the strong connections and regular contact with professional bodies, and leading practitioners involved in the delivery of our courses. You will develop your skills by using cutting-edge facilities, and newly expanded and refurbished studios and workshops, including the Fabrication Laboratory, launched in April 2015. This offers advanced digital making facilities which enable processes such as ABS and plaster 3D printing, CNC knife cutting, large-scale CNC routing, CNC metal milling and robot fabrication.

Employability
We work with the main professional bodies for the sector, including the Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA), the Architects Registration Board (ARB), and the Royal Town Planning Institute (RTPI). Structured work experience through our work placement module, coupled with the theoretical knowledge you gain, will equip you with excellent career prospects. Recent graduates have gone on to work for prestigious practices including Wilkinson Eyre, Foster and Partners, Studio E Architects Ltd, Rivington Street Studio, Atkins, KSS Design Group, David Chipperfield Architects, Neil Tomlinson Architects, Grimshaw Architects, PRP Architects, Flanagan Lawrence, and many others.

BSc HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time

UCAS code: KK19

Campus: Marylebone (See p26)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – AAB with at least one A Level at Grade B or above in Physics or Mathematics; International Baccalaureate – 35 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – 36 credits; Additional GCSEs at Grades A*-C (including English, Mathematics and a double award in science, or two separate sciences); International Baccalaureate: 32 points or more, including Visual Arts to a higher level. Applicants currently studying an Art and Design Foundation are also encouraged to apply. See also entry requirements on p201.

This new course encompasses the artistic and the scientific to create a new generation of architects who are not only architecturally competent and environmentally aware, but also able to explore the spatial poetics with an evidence-informed approach, to selectively evaluate the design options and to quantify building performance, environmental benefits and impact of their designs.

On this course you will foster your creative space and form making, environmental design, technical and analytical skills through a variety of qualitative and quantitative design methods, as well as your critical thinking and contextual awareness at multiple and interconnected levels. Half of your time will be spent working on studio-based design activities and half on historical, cultural, social, economic and professional studies — however, all modules have a strong interdisciplinary and holistic approach that highlights the ‘added value’ environmental architects bring to the building industry and to society.

The course will be put forward for prescription by the ARB, and validated by the RIBA.

DESIGNING CITIES: PLANNING AND ARCHITECTURE

BA HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time

UCAS code: W250

Campus: Marylebone (See p26)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – BBB; International Baccalaureate – 28 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – 36 credits; Additional GCSEs at Grades A*-C (including English, Mathematics and a double award in science, or two separate sciences). International Baccalaureate: 32 points or more, including Visual Arts to a higher level. Applicants currently studying an Art and Design Foundation are also encouraged to apply. See also entry requirements on p201.

You should prepare a portfolio which is a collection of different projects. It could include photography, digital work or objects you have made as well as drawing, painting and 3D artwork. You should provide some evidence of your ability to draw from observation. This could take the form of drawings of buildings, interiors or landscapes, or life drawing. Your portfolio could include projects that you have done outside of an educational setting, e.g. a photographic study of an urban area, a travel diary, building a tree house or making a dress. Format required: between A3 and A1 in size.

This integrated degree course enables you to develop a broad understanding of urban planning and design, and the contribution they can make to sustainable development.

The course is accredited by the Royal Town Planning Institute (RTPI) as meeting their requirements for the spatial planning element of initial planning education. The course offers the first step in becoming a professional planner with a difference — one who has skills in urban design and site planning, who can understand the forces that shape towns and cities and the challenges of climate change, and who can make a valuable contribution to sustainable development in an international context.

The curriculum is delivered through a variety of methods such as lectures, seminars, workshops, field trips and projects, with assessments including written and graphic work, with a creative element.

Length of course: Three years full-time

UCAS code: K100

Campus: Marylebone (See p26)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – AAB, Art (Design or Technology) is preferred as one of the choices, together with subjects from other fields or Pearson BTEC level 3 Extended National Diploma in Art and Design. DMM, plus at least five GCSEs with grades A*-C (including English, Mathematics and a double award in science, or two separate sciences). International Baccalaureate: 32 points or more, including Visual Arts to a higher level. Applicants currently studying an Art and Design Foundation are also encouraged to apply. See also entry requirements on p201.

You should prepare a portfolio of your own work which illustrates your skills, talents and interests, it may include sketches, drawings, collages, modelling, 3D work and painting. We want to see evidence of your creative process as well as the final outcome, so please include developmental work as well as final pieces. You may be asked to attend an interview and present your portfolio or to submit the work online with interview by Skype.

The course involves wide-ranging academic, practical and vocational activities, requiring creativity and imagination as well as technical knowledge and skills.

Leading practitioners teach 19 design studios, offering a diverse and stimulating range of approaches to design through tutorials, seminars and ‘crits’, workshops, sessions, building visits, exhibitions, and optional field trips. History and theory study culminates in the researching and writing of a dissertation. The technology elements of the course include construction, structures and environmental design, and in the second year students shadow a construction site and attend site visits. All students are encouraged to apply. See also entry requirements on p201.

Our art and design courses offer you the opportunity to work in dedicated, high-specification studios, supported by established tutors with practices in illustration, visual communication, film and fine art. The Department is based at the recently refurbished Harrow Campus – home to the Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design – and you will work alongside students from film, photography, music, fashion and journalism, in a unique hothouse of creative opportunity.

The courses make full use of London’s exciting cultural and creative environment, and include an extensive range of talks and lectures from visiting artists; many of them are leaders in their own fields.

Teaching and learning
These courses reflect the fast-changing opportunities in art, design and new media, and our teaching programmes combine the development of professional-level studio practice with the acquisition of skills, knowledge and understanding. We encourage your creativity, individuality and personal growth, employing a range of delivery and teaching strategies including project work, group work and collaboration, workshops, seminars, group tutorials, crits, and think-tank sessions.

Visits to current exhibitions, projects and events are an important element in our programmes. We also encourage our students to take every opportunity for work experience, and engage in external activities such as national and international competitions, and collaborations with industry.

Employability
We prepare you not only to enter the creative industries, but to shape and lead them. From exhibiting, curating, and creating companies, to writing, animating, filming, editing, directing, designing, lecturing, researching and teaching, our graduates succeed in all areas of the creative industries. Our alumni have gone on to take up key posts in a range of leading companies and organisations, including Apple, the BBC, the British Museum, the Discovery Channel, Guardian Newspapers and Orange.

In the 2014 REF our School’s Arts research was ranked No. 3 in the UK

ANIMATION
BA HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time
UCAS code: W615
Campus: Harrow (See p.24)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BB/CCC (minimum), International Baccalaureate – 26 points (minimum), Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – MMW depending on subject and overall academic/skill profile. Ideally you should have passed the BTEC Foundation Diploma in Art and Design but other equivalent qualifications are welcomed. You should have a portfolio of practical work to bring to interview. See also entry requirements on p.201.

Commercial animation is a rapidly growing and vibrant industry, encompassing a very broad range of rewarding and fascinating creative job opportunities. This exciting specialist course will enable you to develop your imaginative and creative skills, while giving you a sound knowledge and understanding of animation processes, techniques and critical theory.

The strong emphasis on creative practice will help to develop your skills in drawing and design, along with the imaginative development and innovation of ideas expressed sequentially. The course is delivered by a large team of experienced animation practitioners, staff and industry visitors, and you will work in dedicated specialist animation studios with facilities for blue screen, rastrum animation, CGI, drawing, stop-frame, film, photography, set building, sound and video.

FINE ART MIXED MEDIA
BA HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time, five to eight years part-time
UCAS code: WP23
Campus: Harrow (See p.24)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BB/CCC, International Baccalaureate – 26 points (minimum), Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – MMW. Ideally you should have passed the BTEC Foundation Diploma in Art and Design but other equivalent qualifications are welcomed. You should have a portfolio of practical work to bring to interview. See also entry requirements on p.201.

This innovative course offers you the opportunity to explore and develop work across boundaries, within contemporary fine art disciplines. It encourages creativity, individuality and personal growth, and once you have acquired the basic skills you can negotiate your own individual study programme with tutors.

This studio-based course provides you with permanent studio space, depending on the type of work you engage with. You are encouraged to bring highly individual approaches to studio practice, coupled with an emphasis on experiential learning; these factors have established the course at the cutting edge of contemporary practice. The final year culminates in your degree show; you will fundraise, promote and curate this public event, which currently takes place at Ambika P3 at our Marylebone Campus.

GRAPHIC COMMUNICATION DESIGN
BA HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time
UCAS code: W211
Campus: Harrow (See p.24)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BB/CCC, International Baccalaureate – 26 points (minimum), Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – MMW. Ideally you should have passed the BTEC Foundation Diploma in Art and Design but other equivalent qualifications are welcomed. You should have a portfolio of practical work to bring to interview. See also entry requirements on p.201.

This broad-based course aims to encourage your creativity, individuality and personal growth through the study of graphic communication design. The emphasis is on the application of skills to develop ideas and present information in ways that are engaging, meaningful, useful and worthwhile.

You will be encouraged to develop your awareness and understanding of the social contexts and environmental responsibilities of design, so that you can identify communication strategies that enrich people’s lives by enabling them to be better informed about the world in which they live.

With significant opportunities for personal choice and independent study, you will learn to engage audiences through imaginative and creative design solutions that may challenge, persuade, shock, provoke, excite and entertain, but always aim to inform.

BIOMEDICAL SCIENCES

As a biomedical sciences student at the University of Westminster, you will benefit from some of the best teaching and facilities available. You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus, ten minutes from Oxford Street. The Faculty and Campus have benefited from a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30 million invested in creating state-of-the-art learning environments, laboratories and equipment.

Our Applied Biomedical Science and Biomedical Sciences BSc Honours courses are accredited by the Institute of Biomedical Science, and the Applied Biomedical Science BSc Honours is also approved by the Health and Care Professions Council.

Teaching and learning
You will learn through a combination of formal contact – such as large and small group lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops, laboratory practical sessions and demonstrations – as well as independent work and online support activities. In your final year you will complete a major research project, developing the skills you need for genuine scientific inquiry.

Our experienced and research-active staff work in close collaboration with bio-industry, the National Health Service (NHS) and research institutions within the UK, Europe and the USA.

Employability
Our biomedical sciences courses prepare tomorrow’s scientists for a wide range of careers. Recent graduates have gone on to work in fields as diverse as diagnostic pathology, healthcare management, medicine and medical research, and in hospitals, laboratories and major pharmaceutical organisations across the globe. The courses will prepare you for professional working life, and provide you with the combination of technical knowledge and practical skills that meet the needs of industry, research or further study.

The Applied Biomedical Science BSc represents an integrated approach to the study of human health and disease, with an emphasis on the diagnosis and understanding of disease processes from a medical diagnostic perspective. The course is delivered part-time over four years, and is only open to you if you are employed in a suitable accredited biomedical laboratory able to support work-based learning, you will need a written statement of support from your employer. The course builds on the practical knowledge developed within the workplace, and provides underpinning knowledge essential to the development of practising biomedical scientists.

This degree is approved by the Health and Care Professions Council, and accredited by the Institute of Biomedical Science and the Royal Society of Biology.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/biomedical-sciences

Biomedical science is concerned with the detailed study of the human body – in health and disease – with emphasis on the diagnosis and understanding of disease states and the mechanisms involved. This course has been designed to prepare you for a career in medical diagnostic, pharmaceutical and research environments, and provides you with a thorough education in the disciplines required to understand and investigate disease. The sandwich version of the course is unique, built on our longstanding partnership with NHS and private laboratories in and around London, and offering a year-long industry placement for all sandwich students.

This degree is accredited by the Institute of Biomedical Science and the Royal Society of Biology. Honours graduates can expect to become registered with the Health and Care Professions Council as Biomedical Scientists, see website for more details.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/biomedical-sciences
Aimed at healthcare science assistants and associate practitioners, this course will provide an opportunity to study part-time in order to obtain a qualification in line with current and future healthcare science workforce requirements. Successful students will be qualified to progress onto an appropriate BSc Honours course.

The Foundation combines biomedical science and physiology undergraduate modules with work-based learning modules. You will start the course with a study skills module to prepare you for online learning and a range of general course requirements. The course also contains a substantial element of work-based learning aligned to your professional responsibilities in your employing laboratories. You will then study modules containing biochemistry, chemistry, disease investigation, human anatomy and physiology, and molecular biology.

Biochemistry is the study of living systems at the molecular level; it is a pivotal degree discipline and a fundamental element of all the biological sciences. Biochemists examine the structure and function of molecules in living systems, carrying out experimental investigations of the properties of biological systems (ranging from cell extracts to whole organisms) and clearly explaining the roles of specific genes within cells.

This course will give you the skills and knowledge to establish yourself in a range of careers related to biochemistry, including biotechnology, cancer biology, pharmacology, and biological applications. With a focus on cutting-edge topics in molecular biology and biotechnology industries. The foundation of the course is our thriving research in diverse areas of biochemistry including biotechnology, cancer biology, membrane transport, molecular diagnostics and therapeutics, plant biochemistry, and protein structure.

The course is accredited by the Royal Society of Biology.

A degree in Biological Sciences from Westminster will provide you with a world-class education, offering a flexible way to study the life sciences and enabling you to tailor your course to best suit your end goals and interests.

The course enables you to focus on molecular science or applied bioscience, or take a route designed specifically toward your own interests. We offer you the chance to explore cutting-edge topics in molecular biology and genetics, the urban environment, global challenges, pharmacology, and biological applications. With a passion for scientific enquiry, our modules are research driven. You will have the chance to select a final-year project, giving you experience in the latest methods and developments in medical and scientific research.

The course is accredited by the Royal Society of Biology.

PHARMACOLOGY
BSC HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time
UCAS code: C900
Campus: Cavendish (See p22)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – BBC to include two science subjects from Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Maths; International Baccalaureate – 26 points to include a minimum of 4 in two Higher Level science subjects; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma/National Diploma – DMM/DD* in Applied Science. See also entry requirements on p201.

Pharmacology is the science concerned with how drugs act and tells us how medicines treat diseases. Physiology describes how the body and its systems operate, not only in health but also in disease. Knowledge of the latter is therefore crucial for an understanding of the former.

At Westminster, you will gain a sound understanding of the biological actions of drugs and other biomolecules at the whole-body, tissue, cellular and sub-cellular levels, together with their use in medicines for the treatment of diseases. Central to the course is development of students’ practical skills, offered within our research and teaching laboratories. Teaching is also extensively supported through use of the METI Patient Care Simulator, a novel teaching tool which allows realistic modelling of human physiology, and clinical responses of drugs administered to ‘virtual’ patients. Additionally, our course focuses upon the exciting areas of personalised medicine and new approaches to drug discovery.

The course is accredited by the Royal Society of Biology.

“Receiving the British Pharmacological Society Prize finished off an overwhelming experience at Westminster. Without the support of friends and Faculty, I wouldn’t have achieved it.”

James Camp
Pharmacology and Physiology BSc Honours graduate, British Pharmacological Society Prize recipient

“…I received a studentship funded by the British Society for Neuroendocrinology to investigate the reasons behind increased risk of stroke in men. This project gave me extensive knowledge about my research field and was really enjoyable, too.”

Alex Hughes
Biochemistry BSc Honours, second year

“There are four floors of laboratories at Westminster and you get a lot of practical work. I wanted to have a real research project, with the chance of writing a paper that could possibly be published.”

Located in one of the world’s main financial and business centres, Westminster Business School is international, professionally focused and research engaged. Our business and management courses will help you to develop an enquiring, critical and reflective approach, enabling you to contribute proactively to the rapidly changing business environment. We are a CIPD Approved Centre, and have been selected as one of the few postgraduate Centres of Excellence in financial markets by the Chartered Institute for Securities & Investment (CISI). We are also recognised by the Chartered Management Institute.

Teaching and learning
You will be based at our modern Marylebone Campus, where facilities include our purpose-built Financial Markets Suite. This teaching resource utilises the Bloomberg platform, giving you first-hand exposure to technology widely adopted in leading financial institutions. Teaching methods range from active student learning through seminars, workshops, problem-based and blended learning, to the innovative ‘learning by doing’ approach employed in our Entrepreneurship BA Honours. We have strong links with some of London’s most successful and innovative businesses, giving you the chance to learn from practising professionals via work placements and establish your own contacts while still a student.

Employability
Your experiences as a business and management student will help you to become global in outlook and socially, environmentally and ethically aware. You have the opportunity to complete a work placement between Years 2 and 3, to broaden your knowledge of business, develop your practical skills and enhance your employability. Alternatively, you may study overseas for a year or a semester at one of our partner institutions. Our graduates have gone on to start their own businesses as well as building successful careers in a variety of sectors including accounting, management consultancy, retailing and small business management.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP

BA HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time
UCAS code: 2G14
Campus: Marylebone (See p.26)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – BBC, International Baccalaureate – 28 points (minimum); Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – DMM, GCSE minimum Grade C in Maths and English (or equivalent). See also entry requirements on p.201

We welcome applications from students who do not have the entry requirements outlined. The University will consider applications on the basis of evidence of personal, professional and educational experience, which indicates applicants’ ability to meet the demands of the degree. Applicants will be interviewed before an offer is made. The candidates must be able to demonstrate an ability to work effectively in teams and be self motivated. Candidates should also be independent learners with an interest in entrepreneurship.

We are unable to accept applications for this course from students who require a Tier 4 visa to study in the UK. This is due to the course requirement to set up a company, which is not allowed for Tier 4 students under UK immigration rules. If you hold a different type of UK visa and would like to know if you are eligible to study on this course, please contact the UKVI Compliance team at tier4visa@westminster.ac.uk

This innovative course – based on a ‘learning by doing’ approach – combines the worlds of business entrepreneurship and higher education. You will create a business by setting up a team-company with like-minded students. Instead of lessons, you will have coaching sessions and various projects with your team-company. You will learn by doing real business with real customers, generating real revenue.

This approach was developed two decades ago in Finland and is being delivered successfully by universities in France, Spain, Hungary and the Netherlands. As a student on the course you will be part of an international network, with excellent opportunities for collaborative learning and entrepreneurship. By the end of the course you will be able to demonstrate professional entrepreneurial, business management and leadership skills.

Managing people to develop their potential and to make effective use of their capability has always been an exciting but challenging business function. On this degree, you will learn about the full range of approaches to the challenges of people management and development, and gain the important skills necessary to work in an HR role.

Westminster Business School is one of the UK’s leading providers of human resource management (HRM) programmes accredited by the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD). This degree offers you the opportunity to develop your expertise in HRM and leadership and development, and the exemptions you will gain from the course will support your aspiration to become an Associate professional member of the CIPD.

I would strongly suggest placement seekers start searching early to be able to find the best company that offers them the best opportunities. I landed an exciting placement opportunity with McDonald’s. After an intense training period, I was promoted to Shift Manager, with responsibility for the day-to-day managing of a crew of 35 people. This placement gave me the opportunity to gain a vast array of skills and experience."

Exciting opportunities exist for graduates who can operate with confidence in today’s globalised business environment. This course provides an academic experience with a strong emphasis on development of the business knowledge, skills and capabilities you need to function effectively in an international business environment.

The four-year version of this course includes a year abroad in Europe, Asia, Australia or the USA, giving you a valuable insight into another country’s business sector and broader cultural environment. Depending on your language skills, you can spend your year abroad studying at one of our partner institutions where business topics are taught in English or in the national language. In some cases you can opt to combine study abroad with a work placement; or you have the opportunity of a work placement year in the UK.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/business-and-management

Over the last few years our business and management students have completed their placement years at a range of high-profile companies, including BMW, GE Energy, IBM, NBC Universal International, RBS and the Walt Disney Company, to name just a few.

“The most valuable thing about my course at Westminster was the opportunity to go on a year abroad, which included an exchange semester in Australia as well as a placement in Germany. This not only allowed me to differentiate myself from other graduates, but most importantly to gain invaluable experiences and develop new skills.”

Marvin Adomako
International Business BA Honours, graduate
As a business information systems student at the University of Westminster, you will benefit from some of the best teaching and facilities available. You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in central London – the city renowned for managing enterprise globally through technology.

The Faculty and Campus have benefited from a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30 million invested in creating state-of-the-art learning environments, laboratories and equipment.

Teaching and learning
You will learn through a combination of formal contact – such as large and small group lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops, laboratory practical sessions and demonstrations – as well as independent work and online support activities. The Business Information Systems BSc Honours will enable you to develop into an effective user or provider of technical business services. You will build knowledge and skills in business-enabling technologies and analytics. You will study in a department of practitioners and high-profile researchers, with access to the technologies used for managing business knowledge.

Employability
You will have a high level of contact with outside companies through your sandwich year, project module and employers’ visits. The course is accredited by BCS – the Chartered Institute for IT, and our graduates are highly employable. Recent graduates have gone on to work in a range of roles including business analysts, business intelligence consultants, information architects and enterprise developers, with companies such as GlaxoSmithKline, Hewlett-Packard, HSBC, IBM, ITV, the National Health Service (NHS) and PricewaterhouseCoopers.

85% of our graduates are in work or further study within six months.
Length of course: Three years full-time; four years full-time with sandwich
UCAS code: G505
Campus: Cavendish (See p22)
Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BBC/ABB

Working in the world of information systems can be exciting and rewarding, as businesses become more and more reliant on information systems to support innovation, decision making and day-to-day operations. The creative use of information systems can transform organisations, and successful enterprises require hybrid managers and analysts who can evaluate and use the tools, gauge the risks and provide the key insights and sound direction for strategic business planning.

This course develops your understanding of the business challenges of an enterprise, and your ability to conceive and manage solutions which are increasingly ICT dependent. You will gain understanding of and exposure to businesses through project modules and employers’ visits. You will integrate your skills of problem solving and information systems modelling with your knowledge of business processes and environments.

Business Information Systems BSc Honours, graduate, now a business analyst
The University of Westminster leads the way in complementary medicine training and education. Our courses will equip you with the skills, knowledge, attitudes and practical expertise essential for a career in professional healthcare. They can be taken on a full-time or part-time basis, and are accredited by the relevant professional bodies.

You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in central London, which has benefited from a major programme of refurbishment with more than £30million invested in creating state-of-the-art learning environments, laboratories and equipment.

Teaching and learning
Under the guidance of experienced tutors, you will develop your clinical skills and competence through extensive practice in our busy Polyclinic. The Polyclinic is our on-site teaching and research centre which offers reduced-cost access to the general public for a range of complementary medicines. You will also have the unique chance to have a placement in an outpatient NHS clinic.

Employability
Our graduates have been successful in becoming self-employed practitioners in individual and group practices. Other career opportunities have been found in teaching, healthcare industries, research, consultancy, media and community healthcare. Some graduates have progressed to postgraduate studies in areas such as medicine, physiotherapy, pharmacology, ethnobotany and public health.
The medical principles originating in China 2,000 years ago remain integral components of the healthcare systems of China, Japan, the Koreas and Vietnam, and are practised today on a global scale. These principles and their development, together with a wealth of practice and research that is currently taking place worldwide, provide the basis of this professional entry course in Chinese Medicine Acupuncture. Our focus is the education of competent, caring practitioners of Chinese Medicine Acupuncture, who have the critical thinking, practical and mindfulness skills needed for practice. The central London location provides the rich experience needed to meet the needs of a diverse patient base and to participate and contribute to the current debates on science and practice. In the 2nd and 3rd years you will have the opportunity to work in an NHS outpatients’ clinic gaining valuable experience applying acupuncture in a different setting.

The course is accredited by the British Acupuncture Accreditation Board, and membership of the British Acupuncture Council (BAcC) can usually be recommended on successful completion of the course.

"The lecturers were first class in their enthusiasm to teach."

Pieter Meiring
Herbal Medicine BSc Honours, graduate

Herbal medicine is the oldest form of medicine known to mankind. This course is largely based on the western tradition underpinned by a strong scientific and evidence base, but also integrates old and new proven treatment regimes from other models. It will equip you with rich and diverse skills – the theoretical knowledge and clinical development necessary for herbal medicine practice; working with patients; a comprehensive knowledge of medicinal plants and their uses; the preparation and dispensing of remedies; and the cultivation and ethical and sustainable use of herbs.

You will gain extensive clinical experience in our busy Polyclinic. The central London location provides the rich experience needed to meet the needs of a diverse patient base, and to participate and contribute to the current debates on science and practice. In the 2nd and 3rd years you will have the opportunity to work in an NHS outpatients’ clinic gaining valuable experience applying acupuncture in a different setting.

Science Course for Graduates (blended learning)

For graduates without a background in sciences the Faculty offers a three-part course (Biochemistry, Physiology, Biology) in blended learning mode; you can study the majority of each module at home, with occasional visits to the University for practical sessions. Please visit westminster.ac.uk/courses for more information.
As a computer and network engineering undergraduate at the University of Westminster, you will benefit from some of the best teaching and facilities available. You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in the heart of London, close to major industry headquarters and the City. The Faculty and Campus have undergone a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30million invested in creating state-of-the-art facilities and resources. These include numerous laboratories offering access to Windows and Linux platforms, running industry-standard, computer-aided analysis and design applications.

Teaching and learning
You will learn the fundamental principles of computing and network engineering, and be encouraged to use initiative and confidence in approaching engineering problems, investigating solutions using a blend of analytical and practical skills. Teaching methods include lectures and seminars, laboratories and computer-aided engineering, group and individual projects, and online learning. Students specialise in networking, communications, system and network programming as well as interfacing hardware and software. Our aim is to develop graduates with the right skill-set in computer systems and networking for today’s job market.

Employability
All of our courses offer you the opportunity to take a year-long industry placement between Years 2 and 3, giving you a competitive edge in the job market and contributing to your professional development. Our courses are accredited by the appropriate professional bodies, the Institution of Engineering and Technology (IET), the Engineering Council, and BCS – the Chartered Institute for IT, enabling you to become Chartered and Incorporated Engineers after gaining professional experience. Our graduates have gone on to work for BT, British Aerospace, CITRIX Systems, KDDI Global, Nokia, O2 Communications, Ping Networks and smaller private companies. Some have started up their own businesses in manufacturing or consultancy.
Security is a vital aspect of any networked system, especially as the dependency on network infrastructures has grown over the past few decades. This course has been designed to meet the demand for graduates with application-oriented engineering skills and know-how, particularly in relation to local, wide and wireless area networks and network security. The course focuses on three main aspects – communication, network design and implementation, and security.

The course emphasis is on hands-on work at every level, with a focus on ‘learning by doing’ which enhances the development of your engineering skills. It will equip you with knowledge and understanding of current technologies applied to network security, of modern computer architecture, and of the role and responsibilities of the professional engineer.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/computer-and-network-engineering

Communications technology requires knowledge of the interaction of hardware and software in complex networks. This course covers all aspects of computer networks, from the physical transmission of signals, through the protocols required for the safe transmission of data, to the end-to-end services built on the communications backbone. Wired and wireless networks are covered, there’s special emphasis on the transportation of real-time audio and video media, and a strong focus on support and services for wired and wireless communication systems.

The course emphasis is on hands-on work at every level, enhancing the development of your engineering skills. It will give you the understanding, experience and flexibility to work at different levels with networked communication systems, from digital modulation through network architecture, routing and management.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/computer-and-network-engineering

Embedded computer systems are found in every part of modern life, from cameras and kitchen appliances to collision-avoidance systems in cars, creating a surge in demand for engineers with the necessary skills and knowledge to develop and implement such systems. This course provides a solid grounding in the design and realisation of modern embedded systems with particular emphasis on robotic systems. Robotics is a cross-disciplinary area with its roots in traditional engineering subjects such as electronic, electrical, computing, mechanical, networking and control. However, it also opens up new and fascinating areas of study such as computer vision and machine intelligence. Robotic systems find application in a broad range of sectors such as transport, logistics, military, manufacturing, emergency services, domestic assistance and healthcare.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/computer-and-network-engineering

Computer systems engineering is a growing market in today’s computer industry. Embedded systems have become widespread in industry and can be found in almost all modern consumer devices, from washing machines to cars. This course aims to develop your skills as a strong computer-based engineer, in demand in both industry and research. It will equip you with the necessary knowledge and engineering skills related to modern day computer and embedded microprocessors, as well as embracing their structure, design and efficient operation.

This course focuses on three main areas – the computer system, embedded systems and operating systems – and you will gain the technical expertise and knowledge to take a good idea from conception through to a viable product, a key characteristic for many employers.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/computer-and-network-engineering
As a computer science and software engineering undergraduate at the University of Westminster, you will be well placed to develop and exploit the existing and emerging technologies that play a key role in software systems used by both consumer and business markets. You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in the heart of London, close to major industry headquarters and the City. The Faculty and Campus have undergone a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30million invested in creating state-of-the-art facilities and resources. You will have access to over 700 recently updated desktops equipped with Windows, Solaris, Linux, Mac OS X and iOS, and fully equipped multimedia and computer games laboratories, all supported by specialist technicians.

Teaching and learning
You will gain the skills to compete in the world’s rapidly changing technology environment. Our courses provide you with core software engineering and programming principles while allowing you to specialise in one of the industry-focused pathways. Teaching methods include lectures and seminars, laboratory practicals, group and individual projects, and online learning.

Employability
All of our courses offer you the opportunity to take a year-long industry placement between Years 2 and 3, giving you a competitive edge in the job market and contributing to your professional development. Our courses are accredited by the appropriate professional bodies, the Engineering Council, and BCS – the Chartered Institute for IT. From designers and programmers to systems analysts and project managers, our graduates are flourishing in the business, commercial and entrepreneurial sectors.
COMPUTER SCIENCE
BSc HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time; four years full-time with industrial placement
UCAS code: G402
Campus: Cavendish (See p22)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BBC/A*A*; International Baccalaureate – 26 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma/National Diploma – DMM/ D*D*. Plus GCSE Maths and English at Grade C or above (Functional Skills qualifications are not accepted). See also entry requirements on p201.

This degree will give you the right computing skills and knowledge to be able to shape the future of businesses and organisations. The course covers the key topics in computer science, software engineering and development, and also explores specialised computer science topics, providing you with an excellent education and training for a rapidly changing environment.

The key aspect of this course is its flexibility, enabling you to build a customised route within computer science, and follow recommended pathways in a number of computing areas to suit your interests. You will develop a wide range of skills and knowledge in areas such as creative computing, information systems, graphics and games development, mobile and web computing, software engineering, design and development, and software security.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/computer-science-and-software-engineering

SOFTWARE ENGINEERING
MEng/BEng HONOURS

Length of course: MEng: four years full-time; five years full-time with industrial placement; BEng: three years full-time; four years full-time with industrial placement
UCAS code: MEng: G603; BEng: G600
Campus: Cavendish (See p22)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BBC/A*A*; International Baccalaureate – 26 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma/National Diploma – DMM/ D*D*. Plus GCSE Maths and English at Grade C or above (Functional Skills qualifications are not accepted). See also entry requirements on p201.

This course studies the best ways to design, build, maintain and evaluate software systems. It uses many of the technical aspects of computer science, especially programming, and aims to develop the professional attitudes, interpersonal and technical skills you will need in the software engineering industry.

The course provides a solid foundation in software engineering theory and practice to develop professional software systems. You will study software development, programming languages, technologies and applications, including Java, C/C#, UNIX, UML, graphics, networks, concurrent systems, databases, artificial intelligence, and web and mobile computing. The BEng emphasises fundamental principles, design, and acquisition of practical skills and evaluation of technologies. You can also apply to complete an integrated Masters programme with the award of an MEng degree after completion of the BEng.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/computer-science-and-software-engineering

“The staff here are really approachable, you have constant assistance. This course is really practical, you have all the tools you need to start a project from scratch and complete it.”

Roberto Delrosso
Software Engineering BEng Honours, graduate
Criminology is one of the most diverse and fluid academic subjects, and our uniquely creative approach to learning means our students develop a critical, independent approach, suited to this challenging and exciting field. You explore definitions of crime, how criminal law is made and enforced, and how understandings of crime and justice vary by class, race or gender of offenders and victims. A distinctive feature of our course is considering these issues from a criminological psychological perspective. We encourage you to broaden your thinking to include ideas about global economic, political and social issues that affect us all, and frame these within core concepts of freedom, justice and human rights. Criminology students are based at 309 Regent Street, placing you in the heart of the UK’s policing and criminal justice systems with access to an unrivalled range of resources, and the chance to be part of a thriving, diverse and exciting capital.

Teaching and learning
Our dedicated criminology lecturers have many years’ experience of teaching highly regarded courses, and have varied backgrounds in academia – such as sociology, law, social anthropology, cultural studies, social policy, psychology, international relations and politics – in policy work, and in the voluntary sector. Our range of imaginative teaching and assessment methods are designed to bring out the strengths in each student, and you will be encouraged to become a producer as well as a consumer of meaningful knowledge. You will consider classic theoretical frameworks, as well as emergent real-world case studies that apply to modern life and its challenges. You will also benefit from high-quality training in research methods which you will apply to your own research project in your final year.

Employability
Our strong links with criminal justice practitioners mean that you will be able to gain valuable work experience which is respected by employers in many sectors of the economy. As a criminology graduate you will have highly regarded research, analytical, evaluative and communication skills which will appeal to employers in the fields of social policy, the criminal justice system, education, the Civil Service, the media, and campaigning groups, as well as the police and other organisations linked to law and its enforcement.

With crime frequently in the news and always an important issue, criminology has never been more relevant. Our Criminology BA Honours aims to enthuse, inspire and equip you with the skills you need for a successful career, as well as making you a thoughtful and enquiring person who looks beyond the headlines.

Westminster’s criminologists are concerned with who commits crimes and how offenders should be punished, but at the heart of criminology are fundamental questions about how crime is defined, how criminal law is made and enforced, and how definitions of crime and justice vary historically and cross-culturally. The subject engages with globalisation and culture throughout, and draws on up-to-date theoretical, qualitative and empirical approaches. Overall, it is one of the most relevant and dynamic subjects, and one which by its very nature attracts a diverse and creative group of students.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/criminology

“I thought the course might be very administrative and focus on issues like forensics, because that’s the general impression of criminology. But once I started the course here I realised it was so much more than that – it’s not the typical, often one-sided view of what criminology is about, you get a very broad overview.”

Vardan Petrosian
Criminal Justice BA Honours, graduate
As an electronic engineering undergraduate at the University of Westminster, you will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in the heart of London, close to major industry headquarters and the City. The Faculty and Campus have undergone a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30 million invested in creating cutting-edge learning environments and opportunities. You will benefit from fantastic facilities and resources including numerous laboratories offering access to Windows and Unix platforms running industry-standard, computer-aided analysis and design applications.

Teaching and learning
Studying electronic engineering at Westminster provides you with a solid grounding in the fundamentals of electronics and communications, including digital and analog processing, computing, embedded systems, project work, design, and management. Our strong mathematical and theoretical teaching approach coupled with practical project work gives you the know-how to become anything from a professional electronic system designer to a researcher.

Employability
All of our courses offer you the opportunity to take a year-long industry placement between Years 2 and 3, giving you a competitive edge in the job market and contributing to your professional development. Our courses are accredited by the Institution of Engineering and Technology (IET) and the Engineering Council, enabling you to become a Chartered and Incorporated Engineer after gaining professional experience. We are an Enhanced Academic Partner of the IET, which gives you unique access to industrial practice. Our graduates have gone on to work for organisations such as the BBC, British Aerospace, BT, Channel 4, GEC, Mitsubishi, Nokia and Sony. Some have started up their own businesses in manufacturing or consultancy, while others work in the financial sector and the City.
Biomedical engineering is an interdisciplinary area with ever-growing job opportunities. This degree aims to create graduates who will play a vital role in the design and manufacture of electronic equipment for healthcare.

The course is targeted towards the rapidly growing and changing healthcare industries, and focuses on interdisciplinary specialisation in electronics and computer engineering expertise for prominent biomedical applications. The course provides a solid understanding of the fundamentals of biomedical electronic principles and computing, to provide solutions for issues related but not limited to the design and development of various diagnostic and therapeutic medical devices. The project-based modules which are an integral part of this degree provide you with the opportunity to develop your teamwork and project management skills.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/electronic-engineering
This course is well suited for applicants who have aspirations to pursue a career in engineering and technology, but lack the appropriate entry qualifications. It is a well-established course and was the first of its kind in the UK in the late 1980s. The course provides a thorough grounding in both the theoretical and practical aspects of engineering, including electronics, computer programming, communications and network engineering as well as mathematics, thereby preparing you for subsequent BEng and BSc study. The subject modules are embedded with a lot of practical content to enhance your understanding and engineering problem skills.

Good performance on the Foundation guarantees you a place on the Computer & Network Engineering BSc/BEng courses (p84-85) or the Electronic Engineering BSc/BEng courses (p96-97) at the University of Westminster.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/electronic-engineering
In the Department of English, Linguistics and Cultural Studies we make the most of our central London location, organising regular public events with institutions such as the British Library and Tate Britain. As a student at the University of Westminster’s Regent Campus, you will be surrounded by an unrivalled range of library, cultural and archive resources; you will also benefit from our programme of regular guest lectures by high-profile published writers. All students in the Department are able to choose to study abroad as part of their course, with our partners including universities in Europe, the United States, Canada and Australia.

Teaching and learning
Our teaching is informed by an established and lively research culture that embraces a range of critical approaches and various periods. Research areas include medieval and early modern English, 19th-century literature and culture, Gothic studies, modernism, contemporary writing, and critical and cultural theory. The main mode of learning is in seminars and workshops, with individualised tutorials to support your work. There is also a significant amount of independent study conducted (individually and in groups) beyond the classroom, in the library, at home, and via electronic resources.

Employability
Our courses all offer the opportunity to complete work placements and internships, enabling you to further develop your professional skills and enhance your employability. Employers value the communication and critical thinking skills of English graduates, and you could go on to work in a wide range of careers including professional and/or creative writing, teaching, journalism, and publishing.

Forthcoming courses
We are developing our offer to meet an increasingly higher demand for education in the fields of theatre studies, English literature and creative writing. At the time this Prospectus went to print, the following two degrees were being developed:
• Theatre Studies and English Literature BA Honours
• Theatre Studies and Creative Writing BA Honours

This course combines the opportunity to improve your creative writing skills with the development of a thorough knowledge and understanding of the structure, history and usage of the English language. In addition to studying how the language works in its spoken and written forms, and the different kinds of English that exist today, the course provides structured support and guidance in the development of writing skills in various genres (the novel, the short story, poetry, drama and non-fictional writing).

Your knowledge and understanding of English will be enhanced by focusing on its creative possibilities. The course is best suited to those interested in pursuing a career that involves the highly skilled use of language, such as publishing or journalism, professional writing or teaching.

The combination of English language and English literature will appeal if you are interested in the interchange between language study and the reading of literary texts. The course prepares you for detailed textual reading from both an analytical and aesthetic point of view, and is particularly suitable for those considering a career in editing, teaching English, or any field in which writing style or the presentation of text is central.

This degree is particularly distinctive in offering the opportunity to focus on both formal, theoretical language study as well as more traditional humanities-based linguistics such as discourse analysis. As well as developing your communication skills, the course will provide you with a strong understanding of stylistic and grammatical issues, and the principles of textual analysis.

The University of Westminster has a world-class reputation for producing highly creative fashion professionals, and our alumni include London Fashion Week designers Roberta Einer, Claire Barrow, Liam Hodges and Ashley Williams; Christopher Bailey, President and Chief Creative Officer of Burberry; and Stuart Vevers, Creative Director of Coach.

Teaching and learning
We foster new thinking, new ideas and new possibilities. Taught by active practitioners in a research-intensive environment, you will work alongside students from film, photography, music, art and design, and journalism – a unique hothouse of creative opportunity. 2017 saw the launch of the Westminster Menswear Archive, founded to establish and maintain a collection of menswear garments and encourage and develop the study of menswear design from a technical and functional point of view. This resource is available to all students.

Employability
Most of our courses offer you the opportunity to take a year-long industry placement, and encourage internships throughout your time at Westminster, giving you a competitive edge in the job market and contributing to your professional development. During London Fashion Week our design students work with companies including Alexander McQueen, Tom Ford, Burberry, Celine, Christopher Kane and Stella McCartney.

Our courses have incredibly strong links with the international fashion industry. During their internship year, students undertake placements with international fashion houses which include Balenciaga, Kenzo, Givenchy, Lanvin, Balmain, Chloe, Louis Vuitton, Martin Margiela, Tom Ford, Dior, Marc Jacobs, Alexander Wang and Thom Browne.

Graduates from 2016 are already working for companies including Alexander McQueen, Tom Ford, Mulberry, J.W. Anderson, Loewe, Burberry, Acne, Max Mara, and Norse Projects.

Our Fashion Buying and Merchandise Management BA Honours degree courses were designed specifically to meet the needs of the fashion retail industry, and our graduates secure jobs throughout the retail industry.

HISTORY

As a history student at the University of Westminster, you will be based at Regent Street, in the heart of London’s West End. In our teaching on this highly stimulating course, our lecturers make the most of this central location: London regularly becomes our classroom. You will also be able to take advantage of all the opportunities for socialising and relaxation that central London has to offer. With committed staff, unparalleled access to archives and libraries, and distinctive module offerings, you will be supported and challenged throughout your time with us, developing highly valued graduate skills in writing, presentation and independent research.

Teaching and learning
History at Westminster systematically combines university lectures, seminars and workshops with field walks, museum visits and archive tours outside the classroom to bring as wide a variety to your learning experience as possible. There are also a number of opportunities to travel to European cities throughout the course. We offer a choice of stimulating modules in political, diplomatic, social, cultural and military history – many of which are unique to Westminster – and research underpins much of our teaching. We encourage you into a community of scholars through teaching which will enthuse and inspire you. A creative and wide-ranging set of assessments helps you to hone your critical skills and develop as a historian.

Employability
Students of history acquire a range of skills highly sought after by employers, including critical and evaluative thinking, information handling, research, and writing. Graduates of the Westminster History degree have used their knowledge and skills in a wide range of careers including policy-making, curatorship, marketing, teaching, central and local government, working in NGOs, journalism and the law. All of our undergraduates also have the opportunity to undertake a work experience or internship module. Former students have held placements at the Imperial War Museum, the London Metropolitan Archives, the National Archives and the Museum of London, among many other institutions.

History remains among the most fascinating and best loved of the arts and social science disciplines, and this is an exceptional degree which makes the most of our unique West End location. The course is modern in its focus and allows students to explore Britain and her relationship with Europe, the empire and the wider world. Specialist modules also include topics such as Vichy France, Anglo-German relations, Irish history and the post-civil war USA. We have a strong strand of London history, exploring the social, cultural and economic aspects of London’s past since the dawn of the Victorian age, and we also offer modules which explore how this past is remembered, such as in London’s museums and public memorials.

Learning both inside and outside the classroom, you will graduate as a well-trained and experienced historian, ready to launch yourself into the world of work, research or further study.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/history

“The History and Politics BA Honours allows you to study two of the most popular arts and social sciences disciplines. The politics teaching offers you an in-depth understanding of comparative, institutional, international and theoretical approaches, while studying history gives you a firm grounding in the major developments in British and European affairs over the past two centuries. The study of politics equips students with the analytical tools to explore and understand societies, while the history element provides a vast historical laboratory in which to test the validity of political theories.

Graduates have a wide range of research, analytical and evaluative skills, and are highly sought after by employers in education, government, international organisations, media, marketing, NGOs and all sectors of industry.

“My lecturers helped me to be confident when applying for jobs, because they believed in me. I could have gone into finance, banking, marketing or sales, making a lot of money, but that’s not what I care about. I care about other people. For this reason I chose an internship with a charity in Peru to help impoverished communities.”

As a student studying one of our journalism and digital media courses you will be part of the Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design based at our recently refurbished Harrow Campus. It offers one of the most varied arts and media portfolios in Europe, and you will work alongside students from film, photography, music, fashion, and art and design, in a unique hothouse of creative opportunity. Our journalism, publishing and PR courses are rated among the best in the UK and in London (The Guardian University Rankings 2017), and the Department is one of only three British communication and media departments in the world’s top 30 (QS rankings 2016).

Teaching and learning
Our reputation for professional and practice-based education is matched by our distinguished record in academic teaching and scholarly research. Our students are taught by internationally renowned academics from Westminster’s world-leading Communication and Media Research Institute (CAMRI), as well as by industry professionals and practitioners with a range of backgrounds.

Employability
Our courses equip you with the skills to succeed in both traditional and new media and communications organisations, newsrooms, print journalism, public relations, radio, broadcast media, public sector and NGOs, and much more. All our degrees have strong industry links, and you are encouraged to do as many work placements as possible; for some of our courses work experience is a degree requirement. Recent graduates are working at the BBC (Radio One, Radio Four, 5Live), CNN, The Week, Music Week, Sky Sports News, Metro Newspapers, The Huffington Post, Buzzfeed, Google News Labs, The Guardian, Cosmopolitan, TalkSport, Kiss, Somethin’ Else, Heart, Radio X and Free Radio.

London is a global hub for law. More than half the world’s leading law firms have chosen the capital as their headquarters, and London has the largest concentration of judicial expertise anywhere in the world. Westminster Law School is located in the heart of London’s West End with easy access to courts, key legal employers and legal institutions. As a leading legal education institution we offer an extremely wide range of practically oriented courses and very strong links to professional organisations.

Teaching and learning
We have an international reputation for research into the legal profession and legal practice, international law and human rights, and commercial and financial law. Our courses are developed with this research in mind to offer you the very latest in academic and practical learning. Our teaching and learning methods include lectures, seminar-based discussions, class presentations, invited guest speakers and practical group exercises. At the same time, our extensive network of partner law schools in Europe and beyond offers a variety of opportunities of a period of study abroad while studying with us.

Employability
We have an extremely strong focus on employment, and on supporting you to develop your career. From the outset we concentrate on professional and transferable skills, employability, and personal development planning. As a result, over 89 per cent of our graduates go on to employment or further study within six months of graduating with us. You’ll also be given a host of opportunities to boost your career and develop your professional and transferable skills such as legal skills workshops, networking sessions, work placements, mooting and more.

Our graduates have gone on to become barristers and advocates, solicitors, clerks and officers of court, legal executives, and paralegals, and we have an excellent record in careers at the Bar. A law degree is also seen as a valuable asset by a variety of employers, legal and non-legal, and our graduates pursue careers in accountancy, the civil service, education, government and other private and public enterprises.

The Department of English, Linguistics and Cultural Studies at the University of Westminster has a 40-year tradition of linguistics teaching and research. As a linguistics student you will be based at our Regent Campus, set in the heart of a vibrant, multicultural city where more than 300 languages are spoken. You will be able to take advantage of our central London location, with its unrivalled range of library, archive and cultural resources, as well as its social diversity.

Teaching and learning
Our student-centred approach is designed to foster confidence in language and communication, promote the ability to analyse and critically evaluate diverse information, and encourage an interdisciplinary ethos to cross-cultural practices. The main learning mode is seminars, which are an interactive and engaging mix of different activities within each session. Seminars are supported by lectures, and by our programme of individualised tutorials. Independent learning is guided by tutors and enabled by extensive digital resources.

Employability
Employers value the strong communication abilities and the precise analytic and research skills of linguistics graduates. Our recent graduates have entered a wide variety of careers, including employment as teachers, translators and interpreters, and in various sectors such as law, marketing, journalism, the Civil Service, administration, international business and financial services.
This course enables you to study the historical and cultural aspects of the English language, while improving your range of productive skills and awareness of English as a linguistic system and a literary medium. It recognises that the study of English is deepened by a thorough knowledge of the structure, meaning and sound systems of language in general.

The course provides a rare opportunity to study a formal approach to language alongside the way in which the English language is used. It will appeal to you if you enjoy the study of language for its own sake, but it also includes practical modules that make it ideal for those who are interested in a language-oriented career such as teaching English, speech therapy, editing, journalism or advertising.

Westminster Business School is an accredited study centre for The Institute of Direct and Digital Marketing (IDM) – the UK’s only government-approved institute for the professional development of direct and digital marketers.

Teaching and learning
Based at our modern Marylebone Campus, our marketing courses match the requirements of professional bodies and the high expectations of the industry. They will give you a strategic perspective and broaden your understanding of marketing and its integration into corporate strategy and structure. The experienced, multicultural staff bring academic and real-world practitioner expertise to the learning experience. You will hone your capacity for analysing complex marketing and business situations and reaching decisions on appropriate courses of action. You may also be able to add value to your course either by taking advantage of the opportunity to study overseas for a year at one of our partner institutions, or completing a work placement in the UK.

Employability
Our marketing courses will prepare you for a variety of careers in marketing, such as brand management, product development, business-to-business marketing and not-for-profit marketing in agencies or enterprises. All of our courses offer you the opportunity to complete a work placement between Years 2 and 3, to broaden your knowledge and professional experience, develop your practical skills, and enhance your employability. Previous students have taken placements at the Walt Disney Company and Stella McCartney, as well as within the University itself, to name just a few. Our graduates have gone on to successful careers in marketing communications, retailing, sales, small business management, management consultancy, insurance and the City.

Our multimedia and games computing courses will equip you with the required theoretical, creative and technical skills to become part of the next generation of the digital creative industries. You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in the heart of London, close to major industry, business centres and the City. The Faculty and Campus have undergone a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30 million invested in creating state-of-the-art facilities and resources. As well as a range of laboratories equipped with Windows, Unix and Mac OS X machines, you will have access to advanced specialist multimedia and computer games laboratories equipped with the latest graphics and animation software, motion capture equipment, game consoles and game engines/middleware.

Teaching and learning
Our courses are accredited by BCS – the Chartered Institute for IT, and our teaching team is shaped by a group of active researchers in their fields. The University has strong links with the creative industries and during your study there will be a number of talks from key industries organisations, as well as visits to computer shows and fairs.

Employability
Our graduates have successfully participated in various international and national competitions to gain internships and placements, and have been employed by companies including Feral Interactive, Microsoft, Quantel, Red Bee, SEGA, Siemens and TFL.
COMPUTER GAMES DEVELOPMENT
BSc HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time; four years full-time sandwich
UCAS code: GG46
Campus: Cavendish (See p22)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – BBC/A*A*; International Baccalaureate – 26 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma/National Diploma – DMM/D*D*. Plus GCSE Maths and English at Grade C or above (Functional Skills qualifications are not accepted). See also entry requirements on p201.

Computer games development combines technology and creativity in a multidisciplinary way. The games industry is an expanding and challenging sector with continually evolving ideas and cutting-edge technologies, which requires practitioners to exercise more flexibility in software specifications and functionality. This course covers all major technical aspects of the games development process, from design to production. It aims to prepare you for a career in software development with a particular emphasis on computer games.

The course provides you with a solid understanding of game technologies including programming, applied maths, computer graphics and game engines. You are supported to develop a broad range of knowledge and skills including mobile and web application development, 3D modelling and animation, and human computer interaction.

DIGITAL MEDIA DEVELOPMENT
BSc HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time; four years full-time sandwich
UCAS code: GP43
Campus: Cavendish (See p22)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – BBC/A*A*; International Baccalaureate – 26 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma/National Diploma – DMM/D*D*. Plus GCSE Maths and English at Grade C or above (Functional Skills qualifications are not accepted). See also entry requirements on p201.

Digital media development refers to computer-based systems, products and services which respond to the user’s actions by presenting rich content such as text, graphics, animation and video. The multimedia industry requires practitioners with a combination of specialised skills, such as an understanding of user interface (UI) and user experience (UX) principles, and also the technical competences for developing and controlling responsive interfaces that adapt to multiple platforms and devices.

This course covers the principles that contribute to effective UX design, content management and optimisation in interactive products. It offers two main directions of specialisation – web design and development, and mobile application design and development. You will be supported to build a rich portfolio, and to gain credit for industrial certification courses licensed by major commercial software developers.

The University of Westminster Music Department has a sector-leading reputation and links with leading popular music centres around the world. The amazing success of our staff and alumni remains one of the core strengths in our provision of opportunities for our graduates entering this network. All of our courses are based at the Harrow Campus, one of the main media and music education campuses in Europe. Our facilities include 21 fully equipped rehearsal studios, 13 fully equipped recording studios, a purpose-built venue with video and streaming available, and satellite public performance spaces, two dedicated music labs and an Emerging Media Space. You will work alongside students from art and design, fashion, film, journalism, and photography, in a unique hothouse of creative opportunity. We also offer ‘Triple A’ training and certification for Avid, Apple and Adobe products for our students.

Teaching and learning
From DJs to record producers, top performers and songwriters to mixers and engineers, our courses attract some of the most talented students, taught by teams of successful musicians, entrepreneurs and audio experts. We offer innovative course programmes, designed not only to educate and enhance your natural talent, but also to prepare you for your potential career in the music industry.

Employability
Our graduates don’t just succeed in the music industry – they shape it. Our students have become recording artists with major and independent record labels, and performers with high-profile artists. Others have started their own businesses – we really are that good. The University also owns and operates MusicTank (musictank.co.uk), the business development network for the UK music industry, to which students receive free membership and access to information.
COMMERCIAL MUSIC PERFORMANCE
BMus HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time
UCAS code: W310
Campus: Harrow (See p24)

Typical offer for September 2017: A Levels – CCC; International Baccalaureate – 26 points (minimum); Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – MMP. Relevant subjects preferred within Instrumental Grade 7 or equivalent performance experience valued. Applicants with backgrounds in music performance which fall outside conventional music education such as DJs, underground music or electronica are strongly encouraged to apply. Successful applicants will be invited to attend an applicant open day spending time working alongside staff and students. See also entry requirements on p201.

Commercial Music Performance BMus Honours is a course for those who want to develop as an innovative music creative, and to be challenged to develop a style relevant to the contemporary music industry. Developing your own musical identity is the first order of business and we are looking for students who are not only strong performers but who are also curious and excited by the challenges that lie ahead in the ever-changing music industry and employment landscape.

We set high standards for professional achievement and practice, preparing you for the challenge of the fast-moving and demanding music sector. By doing so, our goal is to nurture your ability to adapt to creative opportunities that emerge in new music and/or media forms, or in response to new creative partnerships, and develop your capacity to participate in contemporary musical, business and cultural debates.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/music

The Commercial Music BA Honours degree has been designed both to reflect the changing demands of global music industries, and to produce graduates who can shape those industries going forward. The degree offers you the opportunity to learn, practice and experiment with the artistic and business strategies in today’s music industry. The development and delivery of the course is guided by advice from leading music industry figures, and draws on producers, musicians and business people for its teaching staff.

The course encourages you to focus all your energies into understanding the music industries from every angle, maximising your career potential. We welcome applicants with a music business, music performance or studio production interest, though our ideal student understands the need for skills in all these areas and more.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/music

“I found the basic grounding in all functionality of the industry extremely important in providing a base for the varied world of music PR, and studying in London was pivotal to this. There is no one path in the industry, and I found my lecturers’ experience invaluable for this.”

As a nutrition student at the University of Westminster you will gain the specialist scientific knowledge and practical skills you need to meet your future career challenges. You will be part of the Faculty of Science and Technology, based at our purpose-built Cavendish Campus in the heart of London. The Faculty and Campus have undergone a major programme of refurbishment, with more than £30million invested in creating cutting-edge facilities and resources.

Teaching and learning

Nutrition explores the evidence base relating to the relationship between diet, physical activity and health, and the role that interventions can have in promoting health and treating disease. Teaching makes use of the state-of-the-art facilities at our Cavendish Campus such as the BodPod, VO₂ max and specialist nutrition labs. Your studies will also be enhanced by the high calibre of our teaching staff. In the most recent National Student Survey results (NSS 2016), 95 per cent of students agreed that staff are good at explaining things.

Employability

Our recently updated Human Nutrition BSc Honours is accredited by the Association for Nutrition (AfN); graduates from this course would be eligible to join the Register as an Associate Nutritionist. The AfN recognises the high standards of training offered on our accredited courses. The Associate Nutritionist (ANutr) designation is designed to help you make a rapid transition to full registration, normally after a period of three years, and develop a career in nutritional science.

The Human Nutrition degree is currently undergoing validation by the Royal Society of Biology.

Our graduates in this exciting field gain employment as nutrition advisors, sports nutritionists, teachers and researchers.
Public and media interest in what we eat has never been greater. Human nutrition integrates knowledge from diverse areas of science to present a unified view of this dynamic discipline and its applications. You will examine how nutrients and eating patterns impact on health and well-being, and the role of diet in both health and disease.

We have well-equipped laboratories in all bioscience disciplines including a suite of biochemical test facilities for nutritional analysis, whole-body metabolism and determination of body composition. In Years 2 and 3, you can choose to follow a theme focusing on human nutrition, or can select the theme of human nutrition with exercise science, which focuses on the role that exercise and nutrition play in all aspects of human health and disease.

Photography education at the University of Westminster has a tradition dating back to 1839, and the world’s first photography degree was delivered at our predecessor, the Regent Street Polytechnic. Our courses have always reflected and influenced the state of the art. The Photography Centre offers six large, professionally equipped studios, industry-standard post-production facilities, a selection of medium-format digital backs, two Hasselblad Flextight scanners, more than 50 medium-format film cameras and much more. In addition, there are well-equipped laboratories for post-production, image analysis, sensitometry, colour evaluation, and colour profile and management.

Teaching and learning
Our photography teaching is delivered in one of the finest facilities in the country, by leading academics and practitioners. Alongside all of these facilities, our highly experienced technical staff are there to provide you with expert advice and support. And our photography courses are all based within Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design at Harrow Campus, where you will have the chance to collaborate with artists, producers, journalists, designers and musicians.

Employability
Our graduates find employment in areas as diverse as fine art photography, film production and clinical photography. They go on to build careers as photographers in the commercial and fine art sectors, picture editors and researchers, advertising creatives, and arts administrators.

This is a course in the creative and critical practice of photography. You will develop your own visual practice through an appreciation of the history of the medium and a critical understanding of its wider social and cultural significance. You will also explore a wide range of relevant contemporary theories and debates through critical reading and writing. The course aims to produce informed practitioners who are well prepared for a range of related careers.

Many of our graduates go on to work as photographers and photographic artists, but equally they pursue a range of careers within the broader photographic and creative sectors, as designers, historians, magazine editors, museum and gallery curators, picture editors and researchers, teachers, and writers. Many also go on to postgraduate study.

This is the only Photography BA Honours degree course in the UK that offers both three year full-time and four year part-time study.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/photography

“The best things about my course: the availability of the facilities and equipment; the range of different modules that allow you to find yourself as a photographer; independence; lecturers and technicians always ready to help you.”

The University of Westminster is recognised internationally for its innovative teaching and research in politics, international relations and development. The student experience is at the heart of everything we do. We are in the centre of one of the world’s greatest cities and we use this vibrant, multicultural setting to ensure that our students discover innovative solutions to the problems facing our world. In 2016 the University of Westminster was named the most diverse university in the UK, USA, Australia and New Zealand representing 169 nationalities. As a department we also host the world-renowned Centre for the Study of Democracy (westminster.ac.uk/csd).

Teaching and learning
We value innovation in learning and excellence in teaching. You will be taught by some of the leading thinkers in the field, who are committed to sharing their knowledge of politics, international relations and development with you. As a student you are part of our academic community, and our non-hierarchical learning culture makes us a refreshing choice for studies in politics, international relations and development. We believe that learning is enhanced through engagement with ideas and issues beyond the classroom: we therefore offer a lively programme of seminars, talks and workshops involving academics, activists, policy makers and thinkers from different parts of the world.

Employability
Our curriculum builds skills for employability into your learning. Our accredited internship programme will give you an opportunity to gain valuable work experience, improve your career prospects and build relationships with employers. Our students have carried out their internships at institutions and organisations like the Houses of Parliament, the London Assembly, the European Commission, the British Red Cross, the Institute of Economic Affairs and many more. We also organise regular events that bring together students and potential employers.

The International Relations BA Honours gives you a rich understanding of the evolution of the international system and how we understand the structure of world politics through the state, political identities and territorial claims. We ask students to critically engage with the geopolitical dimensions of contemporary politics and examine the history of world politics through different social, political and economic perspectives.

This course provides a theoretical framework for understanding the international system and the distribution of power at the global, national and local levels. You will examine patterns of global governance, consider the just use of force within international politics and examine the security practices of states against the backdrop of the ‘war on terror’.

You will focus particularly on the changing dynamics of international security, political violence and the ethics of armed conflict.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/politics-and-international-relations

The Politics and International Relations BA Honours provides an integrated approach to the study of power in comparative and international politics: who, what, when and how?

We seek to understand the comparative dimensions of politics at the local, regional, national and global level. You will engage with the philosophical, theoretical, institutional and issue-based concerns relating to governance in world politics.

You will be encouraged to think about practices of states and citizens as they confront the future global challenges in terms of environmental security, identity politics, patterns of conflict and co-operation between states, and the dynamism of the political transformation in different regions of the Western world as well as postcolonial worlds.

You will develop specialist knowledge of important political actors and emerging trends in global politics, along with critical and analytical skills in the understanding of social, economic and political problems.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/politics-and-international-relations

“Not everything I learnt happened in the seminar room. Field trip destinations included Istanbul, Brussels and Tashkent in Uzbekistan. I experienced how issues that affect my generation are being perceived in a completely different way by others, making me more open to understand other people’s perspectives.”

International Relations and Development BA Honours, graduate

“The large variety of modules offered, which ranged from international security to developmental studies, truly enriched my studying experience. What is really unique at Westminster is how many students from different cultural and educational backgrounds study here: this is a highly multicultural environment.”

Mohammad Almarri
International Relations BA Honours, graduate

“Wealth of students from more than 100 countries and lecturers working on various issues of the global arena, the University of Westminster prepared me accurately for a global career. My admission at The Graduate Institute, Geneva, wouldn't have been possible without the experience that the University provided.”

Aparajita Singh
Politics and International Relations BA Honours, graduate

“The Politics BA at Westminster prepares you not only for your success at university, but for the real world, too. Employers want to see your experience in how things really work; this course is built with that in mind, giving you the right foundation for a career in politics.”

Christian Criscione
Politics BA Honours, third year

Our International Relations and Development BA Honours gives you an understanding of the global dimensions of world politics and how these are linked to economic, social and political change. It focuses on international development and the challenges associated with political and economic change in the international system. It enables you to explore questions of poverty, inequality and under-development. We consider the relationships between the global north and south and ask difficult questions about the nature of justice in international relations and global economy.

We examine different regions, cultures and territories, and consider the impact that key political, economic and social policies have had for individual states and societies and in different parts of the world, including Africa, Asia, the Middle East, China, India and Latin America. The course provides a theoretical framework for understanding the international distribution of power at the global, regional and national levels.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/politics-and-international-relations

In our Politics BA Honours you will explore the relationship between government and society in regions across the world, and develop an understanding of different political systems, institutions and modes of governance and decision making. You will be introduced to political theories and ideas, which will help you to analyse and think critically about political events and topical debates.

The course offers a wide range of modules, building on the expertise and research interests of our academic staff. It provides particular focus on the study of democracy, power, political violence, political identity, citizenship and political culture. It also embeds the study of politics in a wider context by providing a foundation in international relations and development studies.

Taking advantage of our central location, we offer visits to the Houses of Parliament, the UK Office of the European Parliament, museums and other institutions of political interest, as well as inviting distinguished external speakers to the university.

The Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment at the University of Westminster is one of the largest providers of built environment education in the country, educating more than 2,000 students at our recently refurbished Marylebone Campus in central London. The Faculty is one of the few in the UK to bring together all the disciplines which link the design and development of our cities – from construction to tourism, property to urban design, architecture to transport, housing to planning. The programmes are all brought together at our Marylebone Campus, enabling us to provide you with the opportunity for co-operative working across normal professional boundaries and specialisations, resulting in professionals equipped to undertake the challenges of the working environment.

Teaching and learning
All our courses are delivered using an enquiry-based learning approach involving workshops, lectures, tutorials and independent study, blended with online resources. You will benefit from our central London location as well as the strong connections and regular contact with professional bodies, and leading practitioners involved in the delivery of our courses. You will benefit from cutting-edge facilities, and newly expanded and refurbished studios and workshops. These include the Fabrication Laboratory, launched in 2015, offering advanced digital making facilities which enable processes such as ABS and plaster 3D printing, CNC knife cutting, large-scale CNC routing, CNC metal milling and robot fabrication.

Employability
We have a long association and work closely with the main professional bodies, including the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (RICS), the Chartered Institute of Building (CIOB), the Chartered Institute of Architectural Technologists (CIAT), and the Chartered Association of Building Engineers (CABE). Our property and construction courses have a professional focus; when you graduate will be able to handle the technological, managerial and market processes associated with the production, post-construction and asset management of buildings.
ARCHITECTURAL TECHNOLOGY
BSc HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time; five years part-time
UCAS code: K130
Campus: Marylebone (See p26)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – BBC; International Baccalaureate – 28 points; Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – DMM. See also entry requirements on p201.

Architectural technologists are specialists in the technological decisions necessary to solve design problems. They need a sound understanding of the processes of design and construction and the management tools for the communication of design information. The skills they require are wide ranging, from design and architectural composition, technical analysis and presentation, to the management skills necessary for contract procurement and administration.

This course will enable you to appreciate the multidisciplinary nature of the built environment, and gain a broad understanding of neighbouring disciplines. You will acquire the skills and knowledge to develop your career in an architectural design setting alongside architects, engineers, surveyors and other professionals, practice privately, or run a business in the architectural and construction industries.

Building surveying is a dynamic professional discipline which focuses on the development, management, conservation, refurbishment and maintenance of buildings. In practice the nature of the work may range from the design of large, multi-million-pound structures to modest adaptations and repairs, being called upon to give evidence in court in cases where building regulations have been breached, and as expert witnesses on building defects and dilapidations, or working on preventative measures to keep buildings in good condition and investigate ways to make buildings sustainable.

This course will provide you with the key skills you need as a building surveyor. You will gain a thorough understanding of building design, construction technology, building pathology, the law of contract and contract management, and learn a range of skills, including how to perform surveys, convert and adapt buildings, identify and remedy building defects, and interpret building dilapidations.

Construction management is an established discipline managing the production of construction work including new build, refurbishment, maintenance and design information. Construction managers have specialist skills and knowledge in domestic, industrial and commercial building, construction processes, planning, project lifecycle assessment, and people and business management. In addition to the core themes of management and technology, the role requires a range of management skills including team working and effective communication.

Gaining these skills is integrated into the learning strategies of this course, giving you the potential to become a construction manager or to follow a career in project management.

Property and planning are dynamic and stimulating professions offering variety, travel, networking opportunities and high-earning potential. The work has a huge impact – every organisation and every person requires somewhere to work and somewhere to live.

This course gives you a detailed understanding of the nature and philosophy of town planning and the planning process, focusing on sustainable development, urban regeneration and the environment. Your learning in these areas will be complemented by other aspects of property and development including valuing, developing, and investing in property markets.

As property and planning are not taught at school, students have a wide variety of A Levels and equivalent qualifications. The most important requirements are an analytical mind and a clear motivation towards the course.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/property-and-construction

Quantity surveyors and commercial managers operate in all sectors of the built environment, and are primarily concerned with the value and financial management of construction projects and the subsequent building lifecycle.

Quantity surveyors provide clients with detailed information on which to base decisions and are valued for their creative ideas and solutions. They add value by monitoring the functions of cost, time and quality in projects of any scale. The commercial manager’s role requires excellent business sense and a good understanding of management and construction processes. They assess the value of work to be done and manage and monitor costs as the project progresses. This course gives you the skills and knowledge to take up these roles.

The Department of Psychology has a vibrant culture of research which is distinctive for its openness, collaboration and interdisciplinarity. As a psychology student you will be based in the heart of London; you will benefit from our central location with its unrivalled range of library, archive and cultural resources, as well as its social diversity. You will also be able to take advantage of our excellent teaching, learning and technical facilities, including laboratories, observation facilities, computer-based teaching laboratories, research cubicles, and a workshop and resource centre.

Teaching and learning
We believe strongly in maintaining close links between our research and teaching, which means that you will be taught by international experts in psychology – active researchers who are passionate about their subject and staff who have won prestigious awards for their teaching.

As a student, you’ll have the option of taking modules that cover the full breadth of psychology and that offer you a unique learning experience. We also provide an optional work placement year, giving you the opportunity to gain workplace experience in a psychology or cognitive and clinical psychology-related setting in the UK or abroad.

Employability
Our graduates have taken up careers in business psychology, clinical psychology, counselling, forensic psychology and health psychology. Many use their skills in related professions including education, healthcare, human resources, market research, public relations and social work. Additionally, a significant proportion of our graduates use their BSc in Psychology or Cognitive and Clinical Neuroscience as a platform to earn Masters and Doctorate degrees en route to pursuing their career of choice.

Forthcoming course
We are developing our offer to meet an increasingly higher demand for education in the fields of psychology and counselling. At the time this Prospectus went to print, the following degree was being developed:

This exciting interdisciplinary degree considers how the structure and function of the brain gives rise to mental processes. The Cognitive and Clinical Neuroscience BSc Honours blends experimental, applied and theoretical aspects of psychology with neuroscience, and draws from physiological psychology, comparative psychology, cognitive psychology, clinical neuropsychology and psychopharmacology.

Delivered by a passionate and research-active faculty, this unique course places a particular focus on brain-behaviour relationships, bringing together evidence from molecular and cellular neuroscience, brain injury and neurological illness investigations, and evolutionary and developmental cognition studies. It explores a wide range of research-based and clinically relevant methodologies including brain imaging, computational modelling and behavioural cognition. During the degree, you will consider all aspects of cognitive functioning, from perception, attention, learning and memory through to concepts such as communication systems, intelligence and consciousness.

Sociology at the University of Westminster is a dynamic and contemporary subject, taught in a stimulating and international learning environment. Sociology staff are dedicated, supportive and passionate about high-quality teaching and research and this is reflected in our consistently excellent student satisfaction ratings in the National Student Survey. The sociology courses offer an exceptional range of option modules that allow you to explore and develop specialist interests and to cultivate highly valued graduate skills in writing, thinking, presentation and communication.

Teaching and learning
Located at our Regent Campus, our sociology courses take London, with its ever-changing cultures, institutions and people, as an inspiration and subject for your study. Whether it is the workings of the Old Bailey or the origins of East End street art, we provide you with the tools to conduct your own hands-on social research in one of the most exciting cities in the world. You will be taught by active researchers whose innovative books and articles are helping to set the global sociological agenda. Our friendly and supportive teaching team will train you in critical thought and analysis and enable you to develop the graduate skills valued by employers. Modules offer a range of specialist topics with a variety of assessment formats to suit different learning styles, from essays and exams to portfolios, presentations and projects. You will also have the opportunity to study abroad for a semester during your studies.

Employability
All sociology students have the opportunity to do a credit-bearing work experience module, allowing you to put into practice the personal and professional skills developed in your studies. Our students graduate with the knowledge and expertise that gives them a competitive advantage in a wide range of graduate careers, including in the charitable and NGO sector, education, government, journalism and media, management, social and youth work, and academic research. The combined degree in Sociology and Criminology enables you to be sufficiently specialised in criminology to enter professions connected to the criminal justice system, but also benefit from the broader careers available to sociologists.

Immigration, human trafficking, social injustice and youth unemployment are concerns that make headline news almost daily. If you want to understand what’s behind the headlines – why migration may be linked to global inequalities, or what the role of social media in protest movements is – then the Sociology and Criminology BA Honours will allow you a unique insight into these central social issues. Combined, these two disciplines answer questions about the many ways society and crime shape and influence each other.

Each year you will take core modules that provide you with the key concepts and theories in each of your disciplines, as well as dedicated combined-discipline modules. Your remaining modules are chosen from the wide range of options; subjects include the psychology of crime, youth culture, leisure in London and everything in between.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/sociology

“...I am very pleased that I chose to study at the University of Westminster. The modules are up to date with current events, and I was inspired throughout my course, from the beginning until the end of my last year – I always looked forward to the next lecture.”

Over 90% of our Television Production students obtained a First or 2.1 last year.

London is the media capital of Europe and provides a unique bridge to Hollywood and the world. Our television, film and moving image courses, with our contacts and connections, can bring you closer to the heartbeat of this vibrant and creative city. Our students have won many awards in recent years, including the Best Foreign Film Oscar at the Student Academy Awards in Hollywood; first prize in the Student Documentary category at Grierson 2015; First Cut director prize for C4 2016, and many prizes at the Royal Television Society (RTS), winning the awards for Best Factual, Best Fiction and Best Entertainment programmes several years running. We are a world leader in media, arts and design research, and are rated in the top five in the UK. Our documentary research department was responsible for the BAFTA-winning feature documentary The Act of Killing.

Teaching and learning
With full-size, purpose-built studios, a set construction workshop and professional film, television, sound and editing facilities at our state-of-the-art Harrow Campus, we can offer you an ideal environment to prepare for professional life. Our teaching team consists of leading lecturers and practitioners. Industry-leading visiting professionals – including producers, screenwriters, directors, cinematographers, editors, production designers, sound mixers and production managers – also collaborate with and inspire our students.

Employability
Our graduates go on to forge impressive and successful careers within the film and television industries. These include Michael Jackson (former Chief Executive of BBC1, BBC2 and Channel 4), Asif Kapadia (award-winning director of Senna and Amy), Lucia Zucchetti (editor of The Queen and Testament of Youth), Anand Tucker (director of Red Riding: 1983, and producer of Girl with a Pearl Earring), Jon Ronson (documentary maker, journalist and writer of FRANK, The Men who Stare at Goats and The Psychopath Test), and Aaqil Ahmed (Head of Religion & Ethics/Commissioning Editor, BBC).

FILM BA HONOURS

Length of course: Three years full-time
UCAS code: W620
Campus: Harrow (See p24)

Typical offer for September 2017: A levels – ABB, International Baccalaureate – 34 points (minimum), Pearson BTEC Level 3 Extended National Diploma – DDD. If English is not your first language, you may need an IELTS of at least 6.5 overall with 6.0 in writing. See also entry requirements on p201. Please note: we do not accept applications for deferred entry.

Selection for the course is highly competitive. You are considered for interview on your grades (predicted or actual), your responses to a questionnaire, and the portfolio of relevant work you can bring to your interview. This could include film or video work, photographs, artwork, scripts or creative writing. We are looking for evidence of ideas, creative expression and visual/audio awareness, and for self-motivated students who will work well in a team and individually.

This is one of the best-known film courses in the world, with an international reputation for its academic and practical teaching.

The environment is academic and practical, scholarly and creative, and all students study film history, criticism and aesthetics alongside their practical work. You will learn to collaborate creatively in areas such as screenwriting, producing, cinematography, directing, production design, editing and sound, working on both film and top-end digital, in industry-size production teams.

Our students’ films are shown at festivals internationally, and recent awards include a Student Oscar, a Grierson Award and the best student shorts prize at the 2016 Atlanta International Film Festival. Two graduates won Oscars in 2016: Asif Kapadia for Amy and Shan Oglivie for Stutterer; film graduates have also been nominated for more than 30 BAFTAs, winning nine.

We aim to develop thinking film-makers who have something to say to, and about, the world. Recent work from alumni includes Anna Karenina and The Accountant (Seamus MacGarrvey, cinematographer), Spectre and Skyfall (Neal Purvis, screenwriter), and Under the Shadow (Babak Anvari, director).

The course receives substantial support from the industry, and you will gain experience of working with professional actors, facilities and equipment hire companies.

See also entry requirements on p201.

This is a practice-based course taught by broadcast industry professionals, combining critical analysis with hands-on practical skills, and focusing on how television programmes are conceived, produced, commissioned and distributed in a digital broadcast and multi-platform environment. Students work across a digital workflow supporting single camera and multi-camera studio production modes, and produce programmes across all genres – from documentary and drama series to TV commercials and entertainment shows – all produced in our multi-camera studios.

Practical skills in editing, camera operations, sound recording, lighting and graphics are underpinned by critical analysis of television programmes and the fast-changing, globalised broadcast and digital media industries. Our students have won numerous Royal Television Society (RTS) awards, and our graduates have gone on to work at all the major terrestrial, digital and satellite broadcasters as well as major film and television independent production companies. Recent graduate Ross Boladai won the 2016 C4 First Cut award of £100,000, and Jennifer Sheridan won the Virgin Media Shorts prize with Rocket, earning a £30,000 bursary to make her first short feature, Acoustic Kitty 2012. Oliver Gardiner and Lewis Wright are studio directors on Good Morning Britain and Mark Cobb is the cinematographer on Firecracker (2016).

With over 20 years’ experience of tourism education and research, the University of Westminster is consistently ranked as one of the best universities for teaching quality and research in this area. When studying at Westminster you will develop the skills necessary to successfully evaluate and manage tourism in host destinations.

As a tourism and events student you will be a member of the Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment, based at our recently refurbished Marylebone Campus – one of the few faculties in the UK to bring together all the disciplines that inform the design and development of our cities. From tourism to property, architecture to transport, events to urban design, housing to planning, all are central to our urban futures.

Teaching and learning
Teaching and learning takes place in a number of ways, including lectures, seminars, tutorials, private study, individual and group project work. We strongly believe field trips can make a huge contribution to student learning and we take full advantage of our superb location to visit central London hotels, event venues, visitor attractions and cultural sites. You will have the opportunity to undertake a residential field trip each academic year, ranging from historic UK cities and seaside resorts to Mediterranean islands.

Employability
The employability of our students is vitally important; we actively encourage and support you in enhancing your career potential. Our graduates progress into a wide range of employment throughout the world, in small businesses as well as large public sector organisations and multinationals, including national tourism organisations, airlines, tour operators, heritage organisations, conference and convention bureaux, event planning companies, and conference venues.

Tourism is a major component of the global economy and has now become an established academic discipline, with roots in geography, economics, sociology, planning and business. Located in the heart of London, we offer an unrivalled and stimulating environment in which to study tourism. The course explores the relationship between tourism and the wider environment, developing the skills you need to successfully evaluate and manage tourism in host destinations. It focuses on destinations – the planning, development and regeneration of destinations, the role of government policy, and the contribution of tourism to the built environment. The course is accredited by the Tourism Management Institute (TMI), the professional association for destination management in the UK.

For module information and further details, please visit: westminster.ac.uk/tourism-and-events

This course is designed for students who have an interest in the tourism sector generally and are keen to focus on the dynamic field of events management. The course is structured to provide a combination of the practical elements of events management with an in-depth understanding of the potential impacts of events, and their role in developing destination product and destination image.

The course takes an international perspective and includes a field trip in each year of study. The course is modular, comprising core (mandatory) modules and option modules, allowing you to specialise and create your own course pathways. The modular system also includes the opportunity to learn a language throughout the course.

This course is designed for those wishing to enhance their business skills, while learning about the dynamics of the tourism industry, one of the world's most entrepreneurial and sustainable economic sectors. We are seeking students who have demonstrated ability, potential and self-motivation, and who have a genuine interest in learning about the tourism industry and the challenges of this fascinating sector.

The course focuses on the business of tourism – its role in post-industrial economies, the business inter-relationships between destinations, modes of travel, hotels and visitor attractions, and the crucial role of marketing and management in successful tourism enterprises. It will enable you to develop your business management acumen and explore key themes such as information and management systems, financial analysis, and marketing.

The 2016 National Student Survey results showed that 90 per cent of our students on the Tourism with Business BA Honours were fully satisfied with their course.

“The lecturers are always friendly and ready to help you in any way they can. I would say the highlight of my course would be the trips you get to do every year, as well as the fact that in the third year I got to create, run and manage my own event!”

Holly Clarke
Tourism and Events Management BA Honours, graduate

“The course offered me a wide range of modules which covered the whole tourism industry: from heritage and culture to event planning, from airport management to sporting events tourism, and the choice of studying a new foreign language (I studied Spanish for all three years).”

Emanuela Peluso
Tourism Planning and Management BA Honours, graduate

“This was such a stimulating course, with practical experience in how the tourism industry works. The transferable skills help you understand what you will be doing in the workplace before you even start working. The teachers are outstanding and really passionate about tourism and everything they teach.”

Academic English & Pre-sessional English Courses

The University of Westminster offers a number of Academic English modules which you can take as part of your studies in the first or second year of your course (as a free-choice module) depending on eligibility.

If you are an international student, you can register on one of our pre-sessional English language courses which will help you develop the language and study skills you need for academic success on a full-time undergraduate course.

Academic English

Our credited Academic English modules have been designed to allow you to consolidate, extend and develop your proficiency in Academic English. During orientation week members of the Academic English Team will give a short presentation to explain the importance of Academic English and the rationale for the courses offered by the Westminster Professional Language Centre.

Assessment of your level of proficiency in Academic English will take place during orientation week and learning week one (exact dates and time-slots will be circulated to students in early September). The assessment test consists of a series of questions and a short piece of writing, which will determine whether an Academic English module is appropriate for you.

The completed tests will be assessed by members of the Academic English team. You can find more information online, at westminster.ac.uk/academic-english

Pre-sessional English

Our pre-sessional English courses at the University of Westminster will enable you to develop the language and study skills necessary to meet the demands of your academic course in an independent and responsible manner. You will also experience student life through our social and welcome programmes. Our aim is to provide you with a solid foundation for when you start your degree course, and to give you the skills, knowledge and experience to make the most of your time at university. The course materials and assessments will also have a disciplinary focus, as a further means of preparing you for your future degree. You will be assessed by a combination of coursework and examinations. You can find more information online, at westminster.ac.uk/pre-sessional

These courses will develop:

- your understanding of what is required on your future degree course
- the accuracy of your English, including academic language
- your range of academic vocabulary, with a focus on collocation and word families
- your ability to apply academic language across a variety of text types in your research
- your essay and report writing skills through ongoing practice
- effective strategies for reading academic books, journal articles and case studies
- the listening and note-taking skills necessary to benefit from university lectures
- your ability and confidence to participate in group discussions and seminars on academic topics
- your presentation skills, including pronunciation, stress and intonation
- your confidence in being able to follow university-level courses in English.

As a full-time pre-sessional student you will also be expected to do homework which will lead to formal assessments at the end of the course. In addition, you will have access to the University’s extensive facilities, including libraries, computers and the fitness suites.

You can find more information online, at westminster.ac.uk/academic-english
LEARNING A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Polylang was established at the University of Westminster in 1991. With about 1,300 students on the programme every year, it is one of the largest and most established language programmes of its kind in the UK.

As an undergraduate student, you can join Polylang without any additional cost whenever your course allows you to take an elective module. We offer tuition in the following languages:

• Arabic
• Chinese
• French
• German
• Italian
• Japanese
• Russian
• Spanish

You can start a new language as a complete beginner or you can continue with a language you already have some knowledge of. All languages are graded at five levels, from beginners to advanced*.

Studying a foreign language will benefit you personally, professionally and financially. You will gain insights into other cultures and enhance your communication skills. Speaking a foreign language will make you more employable, and research shows that speakers of foreign languages have a higher earning potential.

The latest Destinations of Leavers from Higher Education (DLHE) survey has shown that there is a higher rate of professional/managerial employment for students who have taken Polylang modules.

WHAT OUR STUDENTS SAY

"My Polylang module is the best language course I have ever taken."

"The material and the teaching were challenging and motivating. I also received constructive feedback and help when I needed it."

"I loved the lessons. It felt like being in a foreign country for two hours a week."

"Polylang is more than just language learning; it’s culture and society too."

HOW THE MODULES WORK:

• all modules carry credits and can potentially count towards your degree classification
• most languages and grades are offered at different times on different days to maximise the chances of fitting with your timetable
• teaching takes place in an atmosphere that is enjoyable and interactive
• online materials support your learning and help you make rapid progress.

If your course structure does not allow you to choose Polylang, you may still be able to take a language module. However, you will need to pay an additional fee. For further information, including how to register for a Polylang module, please visit westminster.ac.uk/polylang

Polylang is offered as a University of Westminster electives module.

*CROSS-DISCIPLINARY LEARNING: DRIVING YOUR EMPLOYABILITY

Cross-disciplinary modules provide you with opportunities to expand your professional skills and engage with different disciplines within the University. They are also key to helping you realise your graduate potential, giving you more choice in what you study and broadening your educational horizons. Employers are looking for graduates who are highly literate, who are able to think critically about the world, and who can respond creatively to future challenges. The Westminster Electives modules are credit-bearing and are offered across the University to eligible students.

Westminster Electives encourage you to reflect on your academic, professional and global journeys. Some of the opportunities include:

• work-based learning modules
• student project modules
• career and professional modules
• global engagement modules
• cross-disciplinary modules
• Polylang Plus (language) modules

Each year the University will update the range of cross-disciplinary modules to ensure that our graduates are some of the most resilient and adaptable within their chosen fields.

Some courses (particularly those where course content is closely aligned to professional accreditation) are ineligible for the cross-disciplinary modules programme.

You can find out more about the range of cross-disciplinary modules offered and check whether your course is part of the Westminster electives programme on the University’s website westminster.ac.uk/westminster-electives

Look out for the Westminster Electives symbol on the course pages to see if your course is eligible.

*Please note that in any given academic year, we might not be able to offer all languages at all levels.
CREATIVE SKILLSET

The University of Westminster is recognised by the industry as one of the top media teaching institutions in the UK. A number of our courses are approved by Creative Skillset, the industry training body supporting the creative industries.

The rigorous approval process for courses in the Westminster School of Media, Arts and Design shows them to be not only of high quality in their education but also totally relevant to the needs of the industry. The Creative Skillset Tick is a mark of quality that to date fewer than 120 undergraduate courses across the country have received (December 2016).

The approval process required us to submit details of the teaching, the hours taught, a review of equipment and resources, as well as details of applicants, their progression and their employment.

Currently the following courses have been awarded the Tick:
• Contemporary Media Practice BA Honours
• Fashion Design BA Honours
• Film BA Honours
• Radio and Digital Production BA Honours
• Television Production BA Honours

You can find out more about the Skillset Tick online, at courses.creativeskillset.org

The Creative Skillset Tick has been commended in Lord Heseltine’s report, No Stone Unturned, as a recommended model for kite-marking degree courses which have been endorsed by employers; you can find out more at bis.gov.uk/heseltine-review

“The Creative Skillset Tick is an essential signpost that helps potential students choose courses that are approved by industry. It tells them the course has gone through thorough assessment, including a review of graduate employment, work experience and links with industry, which contribute to improved employment prospects on completion of the course.”

Acknowledging your cutting edge, one of your biggest decisions will be where to live. Whether you want to apply for our halls of residence or live in private housing, we can help you to find the right accommodation.

Once you have accepted a place on a full-time course you can get more information about accommodation through the Student Accommodation Team.

We have almost 1,000 places in halls of residence available to full-time, first-year students, which means that around three-quarters of those who apply are offered a place. Applications open at the beginning of April, and are processed on a first-come, first-served basis, so it’s best to apply as soon as you have accepted an offer of a place on a course.

First-year undergraduates are housed at Raffles House or at our Harrow Campus. Raffles House is our first-year hall based at Wembley Park student village, a short walk from Wembley Park underground station, and features almost 481 en suite rooms. Raffles House is located on the same development as Wembley Stadium and Wembley Arena, so there is always a lot going on. There are also around 500 places for first-year students at Harrow Hall, where media, arts and design students have priority for rooms.

Private accommodation
If you are planning to live independently in or around the city, we can help you to find your ideal student home. London has a huge supply of private accommodation, including privately run student halls, and most students studying in central London commute from travel zones 2 or 3, a journey of around 30 – 40 minutes. Rents depend on where you live but, as an example, you can expect to pay around £150 – £180 per week for a room in a shared flat or house in these zones or around Harrow.

For more details on our halls, their locations, pictures, how to apply, what is included as well as information about private accommodation, please visit our web page at westminster.ac.uk/accommodation.

The student funding scheme provides loans for higher education fees for applicants living in England who meet the residence conditions, as long as this is their first higher education course. If you qualify, you will not have to pay your fees up front. But if you withdraw from your course part way through the year, you may be personally liable to pay some of your fees.

These fee loans are not means tested, so you do not need to provide information about income levels. Fee repayments will start the year after you graduate, and only when your salary reaches £21,000 or more.

UK (Home) students – applying for a fee loan
You do not need a confirmed place at university to apply for your student finance. Please see www.gov.uk/apply-for-student-finance for guidance on the application process, eligibility and support available. You can use the student finance calculator to estimate:
- student loans
- extra student funding, eg if you are disabled or have children or an adult dependant.

You may also be eligible for a Maintenance Loan for living costs.

Please also see our website, westminster.ac.uk/fees-and-funding, for further information regarding other support that may be available to you.

fee loans for students from other European Union countries
You can get a Student Finance Services Tuition Fee Loan to pay the full fee as long as you meet the eligibility rules. For details about the eligibility rules visit ucas.oxbridge.org.uk or www.gov.uk. Information for EU nationals is available on the student room website, thestudentroom.co.uk

Confirmation of your place at Westminster and fee payment
When you enrol at university you will need to take your Student Finance Entitlement letter to show that your loans have been approved and that the University of Westminster is shown as your place of study. The University can then send confirmation of registration to Student Finance England, so that payment of the Maintenance Loan can be made to your bank account and the Tuition Fee Loan paid directly to the University.

University of Westminster Scholarships
The Scholarships Office offers a range of scholarships for both UK/EU and international undergraduate students. To be eligible to apply for a scholarship, you must first have been offered either a conditional or unconditional place on an undergraduate course. Successful applicants are chosen based on various criteria including academic excellence and financial need, and all of our scholarships are very competitive.

University of Westminster undergraduate fees
Undergraduate fees are regulated by the UK Government. From September 2017 our tuition fees will be £9,250 a year. For latest information please visit our website.

University of Westminster international fees and processes
Latest details of undergraduate international fees can be found on our website. As an international student, you will be asked to pay a deposit towards your fees when you accept your offer of a place to study with us. We will then issue you with a Confirmation of Acceptance of Studies (CAS) which you can use to apply for your visa. We have a team of visa advisers who can help you through this process. Please read the full deposit information at westminster.ac.uk/international-student-deposits

Course structure
Bachelor of Arts (BA), Engineering (BEng), Law (LLB), Music (BMus) and Science (BSc) degrees normally last three years full-time, or four years if you take a work/industrial placement (or sandwich) year, or a year abroad. Undergraduate courses are modular and are taught over two semesters each academic year. Each module has a credit rating, and you gain credits for modules that you successfully complete. You continue to accumulate credits until you have gained enough for the award; an Honours degree requires a minimum of 360 credits.

At each credit level, you can choose from:
- core modules that must be studied
- option modules, where there is a choice within your subject area
- elective modules, where your course allows, giving a choice from outside your main subject area.

Foundation courses provide a bridge to degree level study (see subject sections); if you have recently been studying at another institution you may be able to take a course at Westminster with credits already gained.

International exchange programme
We have a broad network of partnerships throughout the world, offering you the opportunity to study at one of our partner universities. You can go on a student exchange programme for one semester or, if your course requires it, a whole year. For more information visit westminster.ac.uk/exchanges

Professionally accredited awards
Courses in all core disciplines are accredited by professional bodies to allow exemption from exams following graduation, or to certify that the standards required for professional practice have been met. The criteria of the different bodies change from time to time, and if the University can give prior notification before the start of the academic year, you will be advised of changes that may affect your course.

Short courses and individual modules
You can take some modules as independent short courses, and we have a well-developed, accredited programme designed to enable you to update your skills, in addition to our extensive continuing professional development scheme. For more information visit westminster.ac.uk/professional-and-short-courses

Recruitment and outreach
We are actively engaged with UK schools and colleges to develop educational links and partnerships with Westminster across all our academic disciplines. We have several associate and affiliated institutions with special partnership and link arrangements which support course development and student progression. Our six Associate Colleges in London are collectively known as the Westminster Group. For more information on how you can be involved visit westminster.ac.uk/outreach

THE WESTMINSTER GROUP
Academic and technical skills pathways are of equal value for progression to higher education. These are the six Associate Colleges of the University of Westminster which offer courses with links to our degrees.

AFFILIATED INSTITUTIONS
Westminster International University in Tashkent (WIUT)
The University of Westminster co-founded and accredited this partner university in 2002. WIUT is an autonomous institution which follows the UK model, delivering undergraduate courses in the English language through student-centered learning and open debate. Honours degrees have been validated in business administration, business information systems, economics, economics with finance, and commercial law. It also offers an International Foundation Studies course, Postgraduate Certificate in Teaching and Learning, and International Business and Management MA. Successful students are conferred with academic awards from the University of Westminster. T: +998 71 238 7417 E: advice@wiut.uz www.wiut.uz

International Foundation Course
For international students who do not meet our Bachelor’s degree entry requirements, we work in partnership with Kaplan International College, London to provide Foundation courses with guaranteed progression to your chosen degree (subject to meeting entry criteria and visa requirements); for more information, turn to p186, or visit kic.org.uk/westminster

We also recognise qualifications from a number of other International Foundation providers. See the International Partnerships for Students section on our website for a full list.
EXCHANGE PROGRAMMES

Westminster students

We run student exchanges with institutions in Asia, Europe, the Americas and Australasia. These exchanges allow Westminster students to spend time studying abroad, and are an amazing opportunity to live and learn in another country.

Westminster is an active participant in the Erasmus+ programme which is supported by the European Commission; we have more than 50 Erasmus+ partnerships.

Non-Westminster students

The exchange programmes also offer the opportunity for students from partner institutions to come to Westminster for a semester or year. The exchanges are subject based, so visit westminster.ac.uk/exchanges for details of the study opportunities available.

STUDY ABROAD AND SUMMER SCHOOL PROGRAMMES

Westminster’s Study Abroad programmes give you the opportunity to come to study (or combine study and an internship) for the summer, one semester or the academic year. The programmes are designed to immerse you into the life of the University and the city of London. They offer you the chance to enhance your academic learning and future employability, and to undertake a unique adventure that will be a life-changing experience. For more information visit westminster.ac.uk/studyabroad

MATURE STUDENTS

Around one in six of our full-time first degree or undergraduate students are over 21 when they apply. The vast majority of mature students who are accepted successfully complete their course, but returning to study can be challenging. To help you meet that challenge you will have access to tutorial support, and we provide a series of workshops on getting to grips with university life, and brushing up on your study skills.

Formal qualifications are only one measure of your ability to study at a higher level. Work or other experience, maturity of approach, commitment and enthusiasm are also important. We take these factors into account when making offers of places.

MATURE & PART-TIME STUDENTS

Students of any age who have acquired certificated learning at an appropriate level can be exempted from specific modules, through the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) system. However, if you are 21 or over, the knowledge and skills which you have gained through life, work experience and study may be eligible for credits towards your course under the Recognition of Prior Experiential Learning (RPEL) programme.

For more information contact the Admissions Team:
T: +44 (0)20 7911 5000
E: RPLAdmin@westminster.ac.uk

PART-TIME STUDENTS AND FLEXIBLE STUDY MODES

Many of our students are studying part-time, either taking degrees, on short courses or working to gain professional accreditation. Achieving a degree part-time usually takes up to four years (typically attending classes two evenings plus six to 12 hours of personal study each week during term time). You apply directly to the University for a part-time course — either online (westminster.ac.uk) or by using a paper application form.

We provide a series of workshops on getting to grips with university life, and brushing up on your study skills.
We are here to help you stay in touch with your friends and a worldwide community of fellow graduates who have shared the Westminster experience. Upon graduation all students automatically become members of the 170,000-strong global alumni community in over 180 countries.

Alumni are entitled to a number of benefits and services including discounts on further study, dedicated careers support, invitations to exclusive networking events in the UK and overseas, and lifelong access to the campuses.

To find out more about what’s on offer for alumni visit westminster.ac.uk/alumni

HOW TO APPLY

Alumni are entitled to a number of benefits and services including discounts on further study, dedicated careers support, invitations to exclusive networking events in the UK and overseas, and lifelong access to the campuses.

For full-time courses you must apply online via the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS), at ucas.com

If you are resident outside the UK, you can get advice from your school or college, or one of the University’s official representatives, at westminster.ac.uk/international. We also have teams in Beijing and Delhi who can support you through the application process.

If you are a mature applicant resident in the UK, you can seek advice from careers organisations. Please feel free to contact us.

If you are applying for a part-time degree, a certificate or diploma, you should apply directly to the University – either online at westminster.ac.uk or by sending an application form. This form can be obtained from the Course Enquiries Team: T: +44 (0)20 7915 5511 E: course-enquiries@westminster.ac.uk

Entry requirements

For each course you will find the typical offer given to applicants starting their course in September 2017 (or anticipated offer in the case of new courses) on the relevant course page. For many courses, these will remain the same for 2018, but up-to-date information can be found on our website or on the UCAS website. As well as qualifications, we will look for additional evidence of suitability for a course; if your qualifications or experience indicate that you are more suited to a Foundation-level course at Westminster or an associated institution, you will be advised of this.

A LEVEL AND GCSE REFORMS

We do not expect to make major changes to entry requirements in relation to the forthcoming changes to A Levels and GCSEs. Individual courses may make some changes to subject requirements after our 2018 Prospectus has been printed. We will update entry qualifications on our website as soon as they are confirmed.

A Levels

We consider each application on its merits and, although we do look at AS grades (if available) as part of our selection process, we also consider the applicant’s predicted grades, GCSEs, personal statement and reference when making an academic decision. We understand schools will be adopting a number of approaches to the reforms and we would not expect all applicants to have AS Level qualifications.

We are unlikely to require a pass in the practical element of science A Levels for certain science and engineering courses, and this will be clearly specified in the individual course entry requirements. For non-science degrees we are likely to ask for an overall grade with no requirement for a pass in the practical element.

GCSEs

We have yet to confirm what our grade requirements will be under the new GCSE grading structure but will publish this shortly. We will continue to require GCSE in English Language and Mathematics for all courses (and Science or Double Science where specified).

Standard entry requirements:

• three GCE A Level passes plus two GCSEs at Grade 4 (C in grading system prior to 2017) or above including English Language and Maths; or

• two GCE A Level passes plus three GCSEs at Grade 4 (C in grading system prior to 2017) or above including English Language and Maths; or

• five passes in the Scottish Certificate of Education, of which three are at Higher Grade including English Language and Maths; or

• four passes in the Scottish or Irish Certificate of Education, all at Higher Grade including English Language and Maths; or

• a pass in Edexcel BTEC National award or HNC/ HND; or

• a pass in an Access to HE Diploma with 45 credits at Level 3 with a minimum number of Level 3 credits at Merit or Distinction (passes in English and Maths at GCSE Grade 4 [C in grading system prior to 2017] or equivalent may be required); or

• Foundation course; or

• an International or Welsh Baccalaureate.

These should be seen as benchmarks; we recognise that a variety of other qualifications and learning may provide...
HOW TO APPLY

Please note that we are happy to consider applications that reflect a mixture of A Levels and BTEC Level 3 qualifications, or being taken as long as they are equivalent to our standard entry requirements. The University will use its discretion to interpret such formal attainment levels in terms of equivalence, with advice from external agencies.

Language requirements
If your first language is not English, you will need a minimum IELTS of 6.0 overall with 5.5 in each element, or a Westminster recognised equivalent. For some courses the minimum IELTS score will be higher, so please check individual course entries. These minimum scores may change if English requirements are increased by the UK Visa and Immigration Department. We offer pre-sessional summer programmes if you need to improve your English before your course starts see page 187, or visit westminster.ac.uk/eff

International visa requirements
Unless you hold an EU/EEA passport you should apply for a Tier 4 (General) student visa. Before you apply for your visa you must have accepted our unconditional offer of a place and have a Confirmation of Acceptance for Study (CAS) from the University of Westminster. The CAS is a unique reference number which confirms that you will be studying at Westminster. You will need this number for your visa application form.

Your CAS will be issued once you have paid the minimum deposit towards your tuition fees. Further information about the deposit can be found on our website at westminster.ac.uk/international-student-deposits

If you need to apply for a student visa in order to study with us then please read the information on our website at westminster.ac.uk/visas

Admissions process
We take care to ensure the confidentiality of your application information. All details are held on the University computer system for internal administrative purposes and the compilation of statistics. However, if requested, we may provide information to UCAS, local education authorities, police forces and government departments (eg UK Visas and Immigration).

You can request access to your computer file with payment of a fee. If you have any comments about our admissions procedures, please contact us by email, at admissions@westminster.ac.uk

If you prefer, you can write to the Director of Admissions, University of Westminster, 101 New Cavendish Street, London W1W 6XH.

If you have a disability, long-term health condition or Specific Learning Difficulty (dyslexia, dyspraxia, dyscalculia and ADHD).

The University of Westminster values the contribution disabled students make to its diverse community and admits its students on academic merit alone. However, for individual disabled students, it is important that we establish the reasonable adjustments possible and required to minimise the impact that their impairment might have on their studies.

If you have a disability, long-term health condition or Specific Learning Difficulty, please indicate this clearly on your application form. This will allow us to contact you as soon as you have been made an offer.

Determining an appropriate support package and applying for all sources of support, internal and external to the University, can take some time (eight weeks on average). A late disclosure of a disability may delay your support or make it impossible to put in place. Therefore, we are keen to hear from you as early as possible in the application process to avoid a deferral of entrance and disappointment.

For more information on the application process and support available, please feel free to contact our Disability Learning Support team at DLS@westminster.ac.uk, +44 (0)20 3506 8800 or westminster.ac.uk/disability

Admissions Policy and Guides
Our Admissions Policy and Guides are available on our website. The guides aim to provide applicants with information on how we process applications and make decisions as well as, for example, how to make a complaint if something has gone wrong during the pre-application and application process. You will also find the terms and conditions for students once enrolled at the University. Please contact us by email, at admissions@westminster.ac.uk

Notes for applicants
We will answer any enquiries you may have concerning application, fees, registration or transfers from other institutions, although many of your questions will be answered in this Prospectus, on our website, or in the UCAS Guide for Applicants. While courses are offered as described at the time of going to press, sometimes revisions are made, mainly to ensure our courses are kept up-to-date. We will only cancel a course if it is unavoidable and will keep applicants informed of any major changes. There is no guarantee that courses that are undergoing validation will be approved.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS
When you are made an offer of a place at the University, a copy of our Terms and Conditions for undergraduate students will be sent to you. A copy of the current Terms and Conditions is available to download on the course pages of our website.

Health and Safety
The University complies with the requirements under Section 3(1) of the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974. The University has a responsibility to the student and the public visiting the site, but the student has a responsibility to conduct himself/herself so as not to endanger his/her own health and safety, or the health and safety of others.

The University has a legal obligation to keep a record of all accidents that occur on its premises, and students involved in any accident; however slight, are required to report the circumstances immediately to a first aider, safety contact or their supervisor.
